RUSSIA FACES GREAT STRIKE

Orders 100,000 Men to Cease Marching Streets This Morning.

PRIEST LEADER HELD

Czar Refuses to See Workingmen and Declines Their Petition—Text of Appeal.

CONCESSIONS ARE PROMISED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 21.—(6 a. m.)—A proclamation was issued this morning owing to the great strike forbidding all assemblages, parades or other demonstrations in the city, and warning well-disposed workmen and other private individuals to avoid gatherings, as the authorities are determined to break up and disperse meetings imperiling public safety. The proclamation is printed in the Police Messenger, which is the only publication appearing this morning, the police having forced the printers to remain at work until the paper appeared. The emperor will not receive the workingmen Sunday or consider their petition, but through the agency of the minister of finance has determined to offer concessions. They believe the workmen will return to work, if assured safety from attack by strikers and if gotten away from the influence of the agitators.

Many Plants Are Closed.

Mill after mill and factory after factory closed yesterday. Throngs of workmen paraded the streets, and when their colleagues refused to join them, broke down gates and forced out the men. The whole industrial center is idle. Over 100,000 men are idle. The strike is spreading throughout the country, and threatens to reach the proportions of a revolution, unless the government is successful in gaining control of the situation.

The leader of the strike here is Father Gopon, a priest, who last night was quietly spirited away from his bodyguard and taken into custody. It was intended to gather in the palace square Sunday afternoon, hold a mass meeting and ask the emperor to see the workmen and hear a petition that has been circulated. Father Gopon was to lead the procession, carrying a cross. Even if opposed by an armed force they said they were ready to die in front of the palace, but insisted on being heard by the emperor himself.

Text of Strikers' Petition.

The following was the text of the strikers' petition to the emperor:

"Sire:—We, workmen, inhabitants of St. Petersburg, of all classes, our wives, children and indigent parents, come to you, our sovereign, asking for protection. We are poor, persecuted, burdened with labor beyond our strength. We are insulted, treated not as men, but as slaves, who ought to bear their cruel fate in silence. We have suffered, but we are being plunged deeper in the mire and deprived of our rights. Uninstructed, stifled by destitution and injustice, we are perishing. We have no strength left, Sire, we have arrived at the extreme limits of endurance; we have reached the terrible moment when death is to be preferred to a continuation of our intolerable sufferings. We have left our work and informed our employers that we will not resume until our demands are conceded. We have not asked much, we have asked but for means of livelihood, without which life is a burden and torture. Our first request is that our masters should investigate our case. They have refused. We have been denied the right to put forward our claim, it being held that such right is not recognized by law.

Protestors Thrown in Prison.

"Any one of us who dared raise his voice in the interests of the people of the working classes has been thrown into prison or transported. Kindness and good feeling have been treated as a crime. The bureaucracy has brought the country to the verge of ruin by a shameful way. It is luring it to its downfall. We have no voice in the heavy burdens imposed, we do not know for whom or why this money is wrung from an impoverished people, and we do not know how it is expended. This state of things, contrary to divine laws, renders life impossible. It were better that we should all perish, we workers and all Russia. Then, good luck to capitalists and exploiters and poor, corrupt officials, robbers of the Russian people.

"Assembled before the palace we plead our salvation. Refuse not thine aid and raise thy people from their tomb. Give them means of working out their own destiny. Rescue them from intolerable officialdom. Throw down the wall that separates, free thy people, order that they may rule the country with thee. Create for thy people the happiness wrenched from us, leaving us nothing but sorrow and humiliation.

Beg Granting of Demands.

"We pray your majesty graciously to receive our demands, which are inspired by a desire for your majesty's and our welfare and the consciousness of the necessity of escape from an intolerable situation. Russia is too great and her needs are too varied and numerous for officials only to rule. National representation is indispensable, as only the people themselves know the country's real needs. Refuse not this aid, but order a convocation of representatives of all classes, including workmen. Let all be free and equal in the elections, and to this end permit the election of a constituent assembly by general secret ballot. That is our chief demand, in which all else centers. It is the sole balm for our wounds, which will otherwise speedily bring us death.

"Order and swear our demands shall be satisfied, and you will make Russia happy and glorified and inscribe your name forever in the hearts of our people and their posterity, while should you repulse and reject our prayer we will die in this square before your palace."

For Anyone Who Thinks He Has Trouble.

PRESIDENT LEANS TOWARDS JAPAN

So Representatives of European Embassies Report to Their Governments.

ONLY DISTRUST FOR RUSSIA

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau, Room 10, Postal Building. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.

Certain facts about the relation of the United States to the Russo-Japanese war force themselves on the attention of any who closely follow the progress of diplomacy in Washington. Not a European embassy, whose chief and secretaries are alert, has not reported to its foreign office that the personal sympathy of President Roosevelt is reliably reported to be strongly inclined toward Japan, and that state department officials consider Russian supremacy the worst thing possible for American diplomacy in the far east.

President Roosevelt reinforced the formal declaration of neutrality at the outbreak of the war with an order to all officials to avoid making remark or comment which might wound the inflamed sensibilities of the belligerents. There has been no notable violation of this order, but there have been several incidents which have not escaped the attention of the watchful European diplomats here.

In nearly every newspaper in the United States last Monday was published a synopsis of a very favorable report by Lloyd Griscom, American minister at Tokyo, on the industrial and economic conditions of Japan during the first nine months of the war, as compared with the similar period the preceding year. Its issuance by authority of the state department was calculated to give the public a buoyant impression of Japan's resources, which, permeating financial circles, would facilitate the negotiation and terms of a new war loan.

Russia has been purposely or accidentally the adversary of American diplomacy in the far east ever since the Boxer outbreak in 1900, when Secretary Hay initiated his famous policy in support of the "open door" in Manchuria and the integrity of China. Minister Conger reported in 1903 that Russia tried to thwart the Chinese-American commercial treaty. President Roosevelt, incensed in the belief Russia was trying to prevent the United States from getting two open ports in Manchuria, caused to be given out in Washington, as from a "high official," his own vigorous opinion that Russia was playing a role unfriendly to America.

Minister Conger has long considered Russia his chief adversary at Pekin. As Japan has also been trying to undermine Russia's influence there, the United States and Japan have been working side by side, if not hand in hand. The result is noticeable on state department officials here. Russia is distrusted; Japan is accorded child-like faith.

MRS. TEASDALE GRANTED TEMPORARY ALIMONY

Her Husband Gave Her $20 Weekly to Run House and $30 to $100 for Spending.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 20.—In spite of the illness of the attorneys of William S. Teasdale, Judge Spiegel heard Mrs. Carrie Haas Teasdale's plea for alimony today and awarded her $25 a week, pending the final hearing of the case. Mrs. Teasdale is a former Pittsburgh girl.

The examination of Mrs. Teasdale brought out the fact that her husband allowed her $20 a week to run the house, paid the rent, gas, water and ice bills himself, and gave her from $80 to $100 a week to dress herself and for spending money. He also paid for maintenance of Mrs. Teasdale's baby daughter by Alexander Spiro. When asked regarding her husband's income, Mrs. Teasdale said:

"I do not know what it is exactly, he told me once he makes $250 a week on theatrical business alone. I have heard he makes between $20,000 and $25,000 a year."

RAILROAD CLOUD IS DISAPPEARING

Morrissey's Coming Has Probably Averted Danger of Strike on the Pennsylvania.

COMPROMISE IS LOOKED FOR

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—A strike of the freight trainmen in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company on the lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie has been delayed if not entirely averted by the presence in this city of Grand Master Morrissey of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. There appears to be better feeling on both sides tonight, and, although the situation has not materially changed, it is less acute than when First Vice Grand Master Lee, having exhausted all his efforts to effect an amicable settlement of the differences, hastily summoned Mr. Morrissey from Cleveland.

It was expected definite action would be taken today at a conference between General Manager Atterbury of the Pennsylvania, Mr. Morrissey, Mr. Lee and the board of adjustment, but after an interview of two and a half hours' duration, it was announced the conference would be continued tomorrow. At the conclusion of today's conference the following statement was issued by Mr. Atterbury and Mr. Morrissey:

Issue Joint Statement.

"At the meeting today the situation was again gone over. No new propositions were made, and the situation stands practically as it was, but the conference will be resumed tomorrow. The conference of today was largely to enable Mr. Morrissey more thoroughly to familiarize himself with the questions at issue from the company's standpoint."

Grand Master Morrissey came here prepared to present a proposition which might be considered in the nature of a compromise, and it is known General Manager Atterbury is anxious to preserve the company's record of continued freedom from labor difficulties of an extreme nature. The evident willingness of both sides to meet each other half way it is believed will open an avenue through which a strike may be averted. Before the meeting today R. T. Cohen, chairman of the board of adjustment, said that to him the situation looked much calmer.

"It seems to be tending to a settlement rather than a break," he said. "Our side is certainly willing to arbitrate, if that should be necessary, and I have no doubt the company would be glad to do the same."

The board of adjustment held a three hours' session this morning, during which the whole situation was thoroughly rehearsed and a plan of action decided on when the trainmen should call on Mr. Atterbury. Previous to the meeting of the board Grand Master Morrissey said he came here for the purpose of bringing about an amicable adjustment of the differences, if possible, but was not in a position to speak definitely of the prospects of a settlement.

Atterbury Meets Trainmen.

Mr. Atterbury notified the trainmen he would be ready to meet them at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, and promptly at that hour they appeared at the executive offices of the company. The party included in addition to Mr. Morrissey and Mr. Lee, the following members of the board of adjustment: R. L. Cohen, chairman; D. H. Hatfield, vice chairman; K. R. Voight, secretary; M. L. Hobbs, George McBlain, B. B. Weidner and J. A. Liddick. They were at once received by Mr. Atterbury, who during the conference again submitted his last proposition, which was as follows:

I will agree to stop all compulsory firing on all divisions except on such divisions where the superintendent may feel the firemen may require assistance by the brakemen. That will be between specified points, or between a specified distance. He will be paid at the same rate an hour as the fireman receives, not in addition to his own rate; that is, he will not get double pay, but he will receive the fireman's rate only. He will not be held responsible for his duties as a brakeman during the time he is firing and should he elect to become a fireman, such time as he may have put in firing in this way will be credited to his seniority record.

Mr. Lee had previously quoted figures showing that under this arrangement a brakeman doing fireman's work would receive an average of 9 1-5 cents more for two hours' work than his own rate. Today Mr. Atterbury submitted statistics to the trainmen showing that in some cases a brakeman would receive as high as 20

UNITED MINERS EXPEL RANDALL

Cast Out of Their Convention the Delegate Who Defamed President Mitchell.

PER CAPITA TAX INCREASED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 20.—Robert Randall, delegate to the United Mine Workers' convention from Dietz, Wyoming, who charged President Mitchell with having sold out to the operators during the recent Colorado strike, was expelled from the organization today by the national convention. President Mitchell said today:

"This man Randall says my accusation that he made false statements in his local forced him to his attack. If anything were needed to prove his duplicity, that statement does it. Brother Randall, you should not have come here; you could have lied more successfully from Dietz, Wyoming. The president of your district has said he does not believe a word you have said.

"If one charge this delegate makes is true I am unfit to occupy the place I do. If the charges are not, I have a right to protection. Either this man or I should not be here. I leave it for the delegates to say which it shall be."

Delegate Waller of Illinois, floor leader of the Socialists in the organization, then presented a resolution providing for Randall's expulsion unless he retracted his charges against President Mitchell and other national officers.

Randall arose, and standing at his seat, refused to retract and walked from the convention.

The convention adopted several resolutions intended to have all mining wage contracts expire March 31, 1906. It was ordered that locals should, where possible, affiliate with central labor unions.

A resolution seeking to enlist the active co-operation of all national officers in the endeavor to bring about an interstate joint wage conference composed of the central and southwestern competitive districts, including the state of Iowa, was unanimously adopted.

The monthly per capita tax was increased from 10 to 25 cents, and the minimum local monthly dues from 25 cents to 50 cents.

OUR RELATIONS WITH VENEZUELA STRAINED

Mr. Roosevelt Will First Exhaust Diplomacy, Before Taking Compulsory Action.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Information reaching authoritative quarters here from Caracas, Venezuela, says President Castro has decided to give a negative reply to the representations of the United States in the asphalt case. The president has left Caracas for a fortnight, with the evident intention of putting off an immediate reply.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President Castro's proposals in the asphalt and other claims are impossible to accept. His leaving the capital suspends negotiations and places the relations between the two nations under a decided strain. President Roosevelt will first exhaust all diplomatic resources before taking compulsory action. Castro proposed permanent arbitration, unnecessary because both nations are signatories of the pan-American arbitration treaty. He suggested that the first question arbitrated should be the right of the United States to interfere in Venezuela's internal affairs. The United States refuses to have this right questioned. Attorney General Moody is investigating to see whether the asphalt company has been given justice under the Venezuelan laws.

THE AMERICUS CLUB'S ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—L. L. Dilworth and J. Harry Letsche of the Americus Republican club of Pittsburgh were in Washington today and made final arrangements for the club to serve as the escort of B. H. Warner, who will be chief marshal of the civic division of the inaugural parade.

BOND MONEY WAS CUT OUT

Sub-Committee Adopts a Plan to Delay Filtration Issue.

LARKIN'S OWN IDEA

Struck Out the Appropriation for the Principal and Interest on $5,000,000.

MR. RODGERS IS SUMMONED

In their anxiety that the tax levy for 1905 shall not be above 12½ mills, the city administration and Controller Larkin have agreed that the $5,000,000 worth of bonds for filtration shall not be issued until after April 1 and no money for the payment of the first year's principal and interest on the bonds shall be included in the appropriations for 1905. This plan was adopted yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the council sub-committee on appropriations in the mayor's office, subject to the approval of City Solicitor Rodgers.

Mr. Rodgers has been summoned to meet the sub-committee, the controller and the mayor this morning at 10 o'clock in the mayor's office. There is pending in councils an ordinance making appropriations for the sinking funds and interests on municipal bonds. The total of these amounts is $2,113,704.

Controller at Work Late.

It is proposed to make a reduction in this total to the amount of $306,906 66, or $206,906 66. This is to be done by cutting out either the whole or one-half of the first year's interest on the filtration bonds and the entire first year's payment on the principal of the bonds, the latter amount being $100,000 00. The first year's interest on the bonds is $200,000.

The ordinance authorizing the issue of $5,000,000 bonds for filtration, passed by councils last August, provides the interest on the bonds shall be payable every six months. The ordinance for the payment of interest on bonds, now pending in councils, was drawn to include two payments of interest on the bonds during 1905, upon the assumption that the bonds were to be issued prior to April 1. Although the fiscal year begins and ends February 1, provision for payments on bonds is always made up to April, because the first revenues of the year from the March collection of taxes are then available.

By staying up until the wee hours of the morning at his home, the controller has figured that if the bond issue can be postponed until after April 1 no provision will have to be made during the fiscal year of 1905 for the payment of principal or interest on the bonds, with the possible exception of the interest for the first six months.

There is no law that requires the interest on bonds to be paid in six months or at any time less than a year, but it is held that bonds cannot be readily sold if the interest is paid only annually.

Bond Suit Is Delayed.

These developments are said to largely explain the repeated delays in the hearing of the suit instituted by Mayor Hays to compel Controller Larkin to issue the $5,000,000 of bonds for filtration. The ordinance authorizing the bond issue was passed last August, but the controller refused to advertise the bonds for sale on legal grounds and on the charge that the bond ordinance had been passed by corrupt solicitation. The mayor then applied to the county court for a mandamus to compel the controller to advertise and issue the bonds.

This suit dragged along for months until the controller's attorney applied to court for a rule on the mayor to show cause why he did not push the case to a hearing. The mayor made answer and an early hearing was expected, but the case continued to drag along. Even should the case be heard before the appropriation bills are finished, an appeal will be taken to the supreme court, so no decision can be expected before April 1, and no provision will have to be made in this year's appropriations for the bonds.

TWO AMERICANS ARE KILLED BY YAQUIS

One of Them Was Prominent Chicago Mining Engineer Prospecting for Mineral.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Yaqui Indians in the mountains beyond Chihuahua, Mexico, have claimed two Chicago victims in John K. Mackenzie, a mining engineer, and Robert Coy, a young dentist. Word that the two men had been murdered reached Chicago today in the following brief telegram to Robert N. Dickman, Mr. Mackenzie's partner:

"Jack and Bob killed today by Yaqui Indians. Party has gone in for bodies. Details later."

Mackenzie was of the firm of Dickman, Mackenzie & Potter, mining engineers in the Rookery building. He went to Mexico two weeks ago to locate rich deposits of mineral which are said to be in the mountains beyon Chihuahua, a country inhabited by the Yaqui Indians. His word on any mining proposition was always taken as authoritative, and his reputation was second only to that of John Hays Hammond. Coy accompanied Mackenzie for pleasure.

Mr. McKenzie's wife is in Washington visiting. Mr. McKenzie was associated in business in Chicago with Mr. Potter, a relative by marriage of Secretary Morton, who has interested himself in the case.

Will Buy Coal for Canal Zone.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The Isthmian canal commission has received a requisition from the canal zone for 80,000 tons of coal for use in connection with the construction work and bids will be called for immediately.

REED SMOOT WEAKENS CASE

Senator Takes Witness Stand in His Own Defense.

OATH KEPT SECRET

He Says He Could Not Reveal the Endowment House Ceremony.

ADMITS VIOLATION OF LAW.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Senator Smoot did not make a good witness for himself today. He weakened his defense palpably. Instead of being instructive, willing and eager to enlighten the committee listening to evidence involving his allegiance to the government of which he is an active, participant member, he was evasive, hesitating and unsatisfactory. It were better, according to all who heard him, had he remained silent. But he was put on, according to common understanding, at his own request. He was excused from further inquiry this afternoon because he said he was suffering from indigestion. He will resume the stand tomorrow.

When he took the oath administered by Chairman Burrows this morning, it was a spectacle the like of which never before having occurred in modern times, of a senator appearing in answer to an indictment reflecting upon his fidelity to the nation. He was not freshly shaven. His hazel eyes were dull of action; his sallow complexion unlit by excitement. The dozens of women who gazed curiously at him were not struck by his personal appearance.

Kept Endowment Oath Secret.

He attempted to emphasize the acknowledgement of his obligation to this government. But at the same time and almost in the same breath, he refused to repeat or divulge the endowment oath that he willingly took in the temple when he married his present wife. He is the son of a polygamous wife, is young, strong, rich. He said:

"As a senator I would vote just the way that I thought was the best for this country. It is not the business of the Mormon church how I vote; and I would not submit to any such dictation were it offered. I never heard of anything of the kind, anyway."

Mr. Tayler—We can obviate a lot of questioning if you will but state the oath of the endowment house.

Senator Smoot—I could not give it if I would, and my conscience would not permit of my revealing it if I could.

Mr. Tayler—They take plural wives with the approval of God and they understand that they will be condemned of man and of God if they abandon these wives?

Senator Smoot—There is no such understanding now; but when, previous to the manifesto of President Woodruff, it was understood that polygamous marriages were sanctioned by the church, then to have abandoned such plural wives subsequently, by all moral laws, would have subjected the man to the condemnation of his fellows and of his God.

Mr. Tayler—Still some of the apostles themselves, men supposedly in position to interpret the revelations of God himself, violated the commands of God as given to President Woodruff?

Senator Smoot—I do understand, they did.

Violated God's Command.

Mr. Tayler—Your father was a polygamist. Did he abandon his plural wife after the manifesto?

Senator Smoot—He did not. But he obeyed the law.

Senator Smoot went on to say that at no time was he ever in sympathy with those who practiced polygamous cohabitation. Such practices now were in violation of the tenets of the church. However, he would not deny that the laws of the United States had been flagrantly trampled upon by those high in authority of the temple. But when asked if he had ever sought to stop such plural marriages or had ever attempted to have prosecuted malefactors, he had to confess that he had not done so.

Senator Overman asked him if he had run for the senate with the consent of the president of the church.

Senator Smoot answered that he had conferred with his fellow apostles and the president concerning his political ambitions. He protested that his candidacy for the senate was neither dictated nor augmented by official acts of the church. It was not a power nor a contributing agent to his election, he said.

Would Have Heard from the Church.

Q—"If the church had objected to your candidacy and you had run regardless, would that have subjected you to criticism by the Mormon authorities?"

A—"It would have been an act not in harmony with ecclesiastical usage, and doubtless I would have heard from it."

Senator Smoot was asked concerning the whereabouts of Apostle Taylor, who is known to have taken a plural wife subsequent to the manifesto. He thought Apostle Taylor was in Canada and had been there for some time; but he did not know. He spoke from hearsay. And he did not pay particular attention to rumors, he said.

There was a great crowd to listen to him all during his testimony. Women thronged the hallway; men stood up in the committee room, eager to catch every word the Mormon senator had to utter. The committee was fully represented.

Senator Smoot was shown no senatorial courtesy while he was in the witness chair. On one occasion when his voice lowered Senator Burrows said with some asperity:

"Witness will speak louder. The chair cannot distinguish his words."

Did Not Want to Take Oath.

Witness said he was born in Salt Lake City in 1862. His father and mother are both dead. His mother was a plural wife. Concerning his own family, he said he was married September 11, 1884, and has but one wife. They have six children. He said that in 1900 he had gone through the endowment house at the request of his father. He said he told his father at that time that he did not care much about taking the ceremony.

Mr. Worthington read what witnesses have alleged to be "the oath of vengeance," and asked Senator Smoot if there was anything of that character in the ceremony.

"There was not."

"Was there anything of vengeance upon this generation?"

"No, sir."

"Was there anything about avenging the blood of Joseph Smith?"

"There was not. And it would have been very strange if there had been. Joseph Smith was the instigator of the endowment ceremony and it would have been very strange if he had asked his people to avenge his blood when he was alive."

"Was there anything in the ceremony which would affect your loyalty to your country?"

"There was not."

How He Became Senator.

"How came you to be a candidate for senator?"

"Well, I had been rather active in politics before the division was made on party lines. I took the leading papers of both national parties and at first believed myself to be a Democrat, but as I studied politics I found myself gradually drifting to the principles of the Republican party, and joined that party when the division came. We organized and carried Utah for the Republican party in 1900. I announced my candidacy for the United States senate in 1902. Of course I knew of the rule which required me to ask the presidency of the church if I could run."

Here Mr. Worthington interrupted and asked him to explain this rule. Senator Smoot replied that it referred only to officials of the church and amounted simply to a leave of absence from their church duties. He said he went to the first presidency while it was sitting in one of its regular meetings and formally made application for a leave. He told the first presidency that if elected he would require a leave of absence so as not to interfere with his duties as a senator.

"That consent was given me some time early in May, and I announced my candidacy May 19, 1902," continued the senator, "and I immediately began to organize my forces for a campaign."

Admitted Violation of Law.

Mr. Smoot, in answering a question regarding the cause of the manifesto, said that in his opinion the manifesto came partly from a pressure from within the church, prompted by a desire to obey all the laws of the land.

"I never have been taught anything in my life but to obey the laws of my country," asserted Mr. Smoot.

"Do you understand that Joseph Smith is disobeying the law?" asked Mr. Tayler.

The answer to this question resulted in a somewhat long explanation and Chairman Burrows interrupted to have the answer made plainer. The question was repeated and the witness replied:

"I understand that Joseph F. Smith said that he had not obeyed the law in the past. I cannot say what he is doing now."

"Do you understand that he is obeying the law?"

"No, I do not so understand."

Chairman Burrows again interrupted and refreshed Senator Smoot's mind with the statement of President Smith that he has had 11 children by his five different wives since the manifesto of 1890. "Remembering that, what is your answer?" concluded Senator Burrows.

"I could not say that he has lived with those wives."

"But he says so himself."

"It is a violation of the law," concluded Senator Smoot.

cents above his own rate for assisting the firemen.

The trainmen, it is learned, are not inclined to consider the question of remuneration. They are opposed to the principle of compelling one class of men to do the work of another class. The meeting was friendly, but it was found the issue could not be thoroughly discussed today, so Mr. Atterbury agreed to receive the board at the same hour tomorrow.

The plan which appeals strongly to the trainmen as the most practical solution of the difficulty is that of placing assistant firemen or helpers at points where there are steep grades, and where the forward brakeman is, by rule of the company, compelled to assist in firing the engine. General Manager Atterbury at a previous conference offered to station men at ash pits and water tanks to assist the firemen and brakemen in their work, but this offer was not accepted.

If the company can be induced to accept the proposition to employ additional firemen's helpers, it is understood the offer will be satisfactory to Grand Master Morrissey. Another meeting of the board of adjustment will be held tomorrow morning.

The Press will say, "There will be no strike of trainmen on the Pennsylvania railroad. The questions at issue will be settled at a conference which will be held today (Saturday) between General Manager Atterbury and the leaders of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

"While it is impossible to quote the exact authority for this absolute statement it might be said that it comes from a source which knows the situation and what will be done. An amicable settlement will be reached today (Saturday.)

Former Secret Service Agent Was Not Even Awakened by the Report of His Revolver.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—One of the most remarkable cases of somnambulism ever recorded occurred early this morning at Stockwell, when a former secret service agent named Lake rose from his bed and shot his wife twice with a revolver without being conscious of what he had done. Even the noise of the shots failed to awaken him.

Seriously wounded, his wife seized him by the hands and awakened him. The man was overcome with horror and brought a doctor, who found his wife had been wounded in two places near the knee.

MAFIA BACK OF EAST END MURDER

Member of Society, Victim Says, Shoots Down Organizer for Deadly Black Hand.

BITTER ENMITY NOW EXISTS

Because he had succeeded in gaining recruits for the Black Hand society, in spite of the effort of James Capposso, who, John Masculo alleges, was soliciting members for the Mafia, Masculo is dying at the East End Charity hospital. He suffers from a gunshot wound at the hands of Capposso. Capposso was captured yesterday after a clever fuse on the part of Inspector Boyle and a desperate resistance by the prisoner.

Masculo made his dying deposition at the hospital yesterday, in which he awakened the Pittsburgh police force to the dangers which threaten this city from the lower classes of Italian immigrants. He stated that bad blood had existed between him and Capposso for two years. Just about two years ago a branch of the Black Hand was organized in this city, and Masculo was made organizer and solicitor for the society. About the same time the Mafia undertook to organize the Italians, according to Masculo, and Capposso was made organizer and solicitor for that organization. Masculo was enabled to present the Black Hand to the Italians of the Negleys Run district in a more alluring picture than Capposso could present the Mafia, and he got a number of recruits whom Capposso particularly wanted. That started the trouble.

Wednesday night Capposso started on a hunt for Masculo. The victim did not know he was being looked for, but it was over two hours before Capposso ran across him. Without a word he shot his man down and made his escape. Masculo was taken to the East End hospital and Inspector Boyle instructed the hospital authorities to state that he was not seriously injured, although it was seen from the first that he could not live.

The report that he was not seriously injured brought Capposso around. Yesterday morning a boy appeared at the office of Magistrate Negley and wanted to know what it would cost to get Capposso out of his trouble. Officers were detailed to follow the boy and they tracked him to the home of Michael Juezio, 121 Sloebner alley. Five officers surrounded the house while Officers Golden, Corbett and Carr entered. As Golden reached the second floor of the house he saw Capposso trying to get out of a window. He grappled with him and after a struggle the man was stabbed.

Capposso was taken to the East End police station, with Samuel De Lucca, Lucca Nappi and Andrew Bosserlli. Capposso was committed to await the result of Masculo's injuries, and the others were released on $500 bail as witnesses. De Lucca, it was afterward learned, was with Capposso when the shooting took place, and had been with him during the hunt for the victim. He was afterward rearrested and his bail increased to $1,500, which he furnished. These three will have a hearing this morning. Masculo cannot possibly recover and Inspector Boyle got a dying deposition from him yesterday in which he brought out the Mafia-Black Hand imbroglio.

SENATOR LODGE FAVORS ONLY RATE REVISION

Says the President Insists on Government Supervision, but Leaves Details to Congress.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was the chief speaker at a dinner given in his honor tonight by the Middlesex club. In a speech Mr. Lodge declared against the supervision of railroad rates by the interstate commerce commission, and in favor of a special court, to have power only to revise rates, not to fix them. Said he:

"There is no shutting our eyes to the fact that a great movement is going forward toward the government ownership of railroads. I fear that in putting the railroads and other great corporations under government ownership you would found a social bureaucracy, not only tyrannical, but economically weak.

"The policy of the president is not to attack the railroads, but he stands for an equalization of rates, not only to give the small shipper fair returns, but also to make up to the railroads that which the great corporations force them to give up in the matter of rebates, and to abolish rebates and the differentials between various points.

"The president insists only on government supervision. He leaves the details to congress."

ROOSEVELT WISE PRESIDENT.

Buelow Says He Is Trying to Protect Country from Economic Harm.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—Otto Hue, a Socialist in the reichstag, today defended the miners for striking. His description of what the men have endured put the mine owners in a bad light. Chancellor von Buelow asserted the government would maintain order and the right of every man to work, if he wished.

"We stand," the chancellor said, "in the presence of one of the most difficult problems, which is unsolved in other civilized states just as it is with us. I refer you to the United States, where syndicates and trusts are most highly developed, where a wise central government and a wise president are already at work trying to preserve the state from harm."

He declared the Socialists were using the strike for political purposes.

ACCIDENT WAS FATAL.

J. Norwood Rodgers Succumbs to Injuries Without Regaining Consciousness.

J. Norwood Rodgers, aged 20, son of Capt. William B. Rodgers of Bellevue, died shortly after 11 o'clock last night of a fractured skull at the Homeopathic hospital, where he had been since he was injured last Saturday.

He was employed as manager of the Rodgers Sand Company, and at the time of the accident was looking after the company's property in the Allegheny river at the foot of Fifth street. He was standing in the gunwale of a flat when a line broke and, flying back, struck him on the legs. The force of the blow threw him high in the air and he alighted on his head in the bottom of the flat. He was picked up unconscious and taken to the Homeopathic hospital. He never regained consciousness.

Last Sunday an operation was performed. He took a turn for the worse Thursday, and all day yesterday his parents and wife waited at the hospital, hoping for improvement, but fearing the worst. Since the accident Capt. Rodgers and his family have occupied rooms at the Monongahela house, where they could be within call of the hospital.

VESTRY WOULD NOT LET BOPE SUFFER

He Wished to Bear Charges to Save Prominent Families from Scandal.

TRIAL OPENS IN ZANESVILLE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

ZANESVILLE, O., Jan. 20.—A letter made public by attorneys for the Rev. Frank W. Bope, rector of St. James' Episcopal church, whose suit against Walter A. Gibbs, general manager of the Zanesville Street Railway Company, came to trial today, indicates a widespread scandal among leading people here will result. The minister wished to abandon the suit, saying he would rather suffer alone than expose scandals in leading families which he had mediated and in so doing had brought suspicion on himself. It is said some of the younger members of his congregation had been guilty of indiscretions and he had tried to shield them.

The Rev. Mr. Bope's letter was shown to the vestrymen of St. James' church who have been loyal to their rector. All declared that the minister should be cleared of the charges against him and that if anyone committed any indiscretions, these same parties should suffer the disgrace, rather than have the Rev. Mr. Bope's life ruined. Only after the minister learned of the determined stand of the vestry did he decide to clear his name at any cost.

Seated by him during the trial today were: Archdeacon Edwards, representing the archbishop of the Southern diocese of Ohio; Mrs. Bope, his wife, and George D. Gibbons, father-in-law of the minister. The attorneys for the rector are: Clarence Darrow of Chicago, who represented President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers, before the anthracite strike arbitration commission; Judge M. M. Granger and his son, Sherman M. Granger, of this city, and Lewis Irwin of Cincinnati. The Hon. F. A. Durbin, once Republican candidate for governor of Ohio and general counsel for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, represents Gibbs.

A jury was selected and two newspaper men testified to Gibbs' securing the publication of his famous card denouncing Bope.

A ruling considered in favor of Bope was made this afternoon. It gives his attorneys permission to read the original petition, amended petitions and answers, motions and many other papers bearing on the case.

Many people are here to attend the trial, some coming 150 miles.

MAJOR J. W. WRIGHT DIES FROM A BULLET WOUND

Before Death He Declared Shooting Accidental—Leading Citizen of Wilkesbarre.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Major Jacob Ridgeway Wright of Wilkesbarre, Pa., died in a hospital today from a shot in the side, received in a room in the Hotel Imperial. Before dying he declared the shooting was accidental. Dr. Howard A. Pardee, who was with him, is out on parole, being held as a witness. The arresting officer said Pardee told him that he believed Wright killed himself, owing to business troubles. It is said Wright lost almost his entire fortune in a silver mine in Venezuela.

The widow of Mr. Wright arrived here tonight from Wilkesbarre and after consulting with Coroner Schader made a deposition in which she declared that Dr. Pardee ought to be relieved from even formal restraint in connection with Mr. Wright's death. She deposed that Dr. Pardee had been an intimate friend of the family for several years.

WILKESBARRE, Jan. 20.—Friends of Major Wright scout the idea that he shot himself with suicidal intent. W. P. Billings, who saw him on Wednesday, says Wright spoke to him of the improvement of his health. Major Wright was one of the most prominent men in this city. He served one term in the legislature. He was for several years president of common council.

WYMAN BEATEN IN CONVENTION

McKay Plays Politics and Allegheny Democrats Nominate Brown for Re-Election.

THIS KILLS FUSION MOVEMENT

Allegheny Democrats in convention last night nominated Controller James Brown as a candidate to succeed himself at the election next month.

This action was a blow to the administration, as it was entirely unexpected and contrary to the orders of Mayor Wyman. It was done by a bit of clever politics on the part of James McKay, and it was not until the trick was turned that the administration workers realized how they had been outwitted.

The convention was called to order in common council chamber by City Chairman Henry Meyers. It was understood Meyers was to be made chairman of the meeting. McKay had planned differently, and when the roll was called it was found that McKay carried a large majority of the votes and was elected chairman.

Mr. Meyers in addressing the convention suggested the nomination of a candidate for controller be left to a committee of three that would report its finding to the city committee. This motion failed miserably. Then McKay eulogized Controller Brown and told of his long record as a public official.

"Why," exclaimed McKay, "Mr. Brown is about the only official in this hall today at which no finger of suspicion is pointing."

McKay Had the Votes.

This declaration almost caused a riot, but McKay had the votes; and his resolution to the effect that Brown be nominated as Democratic candidate for controller went through in a hurry. Some one, evidently a friend of McKay, then offered a motion to allow the chairman of the meeting to appoint a committee of three to make up the Democratic ticket in the big Second ward. This carried, too, and McKay appointed himself and his brother, Arthur, and will name the third member today.

It came out after the meeting that at a conference held yesterday in Mayor Wyman's office the scheme to sidetrack any nomination at last night's meeting was hatched. City Chairman Henry Meyers, who, is was understood, was to be the convention chairman, was to have his motion put through giving him the power to name a committee of three to find a candidate to oppose Controller Brown. Mayor Wyman was to name the committee later, and also tell who the candidate should be. A fusion of the Wyman forces with the Democrats was to have been effected and a fight against Brown was to be made.

Wish of the Majority.

McKay was seen after the meeting adjourned and was asked if he had not been busy among the delegates for the past few days.

"Oh, no," he said, "it was just the wish of the majority in the convention that Controller Brown be our candidate."

Francis J. Torrance will get the indorsement of the Democrats in the Second ward. The Second is McKay's home ward, and as he controls the nominating committee, he will have Torrance indorsed for select council. The remainder of the ticket will be made up early next week.

At the conference in Mayor Wyman's office yesterday the administration favorites in the fight for councils in the Second ward were picked. Their names follow: Robert W. Alston, William J. Burke, H. H. Hipwell, John S. Miller, Samuel McElroy and Joseph C. Pearce. It is calmed the police and other city employes in the ward were busy yesterday working against William E. Kimberlin and William A. Ford, who fell out with the administration because they refused to go into a fight against Francis J. Torrance.

HOWARD GOULD TRAVELS OVER NEW WABASH LINES

New Yorker Much Impressed With the Industrial Activity He Sees for the First Time.

Howard Gould, one of the principal stockholders of the Wabash, who is paying his first visit to Pittsburgh, saw all the new Wabash lines here yesterday. In the private car of Vice President J. W. Patterson, accompanied by Mr. Patterson and other Pittsburgh officials of the company, he made a trip over the new line to Pittsburgh Junction, where it connects with the Wheeling & Lake Erie. He also went over the West Side Belt line to Clairton.

"No one could fail to be impressed by the industrial activity of this city," said Mr. Gould after his visits. "It is all new to me, so far as seeing the industries is concerned, although I have, of course, read and heard much of the business done in Pittsburgh.

"Tomorrow I am to go by trolley through the residence section of the city and then go up the Monongahela valley to visit some of the steel works. I am looking forward to this eagerly.

"The new road built by the Wabash is a marvelous piece of engineering and one that compels admiration."

TRAFFIC CLUB DINES.

Organization of Freight Officials Gives Dinner at the Henry to Members and Guests.

To its own members and a few invited guests the Traffic club of Pittsburgh tendered last evening a dinner at the Hotel Henry. The affair was well appointed and lasted until a late hour.

Addresses were made by Judge Joseph Buffington of the United States district court, James B. Yohe, general superintendent of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, and George F. Early, special agent of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company.

Judge Buffington's address was complimentary to the organization. He referred to the individuality of this club among railroad associations and referred to the work which it is accomplishing in bringing together the traffic men of railroads and industrial corporations alike.

Mr. Yohe and Mr. Early both spoke well and were rewarded with applause. Charles S. Belsterling was toastmaster of the dinner. Historian F. A. Butterworth of the club amused the party with his account of the transactions. D. G. Black and E. M. Wagner also entertained the gathering.

WYMAN NOT IN IT.

Allegheny's Mayor Denies Having Any Interest in Proposed New Traction System.

Mayor James G. Wyman of Allegheny denied yesterday that he is interested in the ordinances granting franchises to new traction lines planned to cover every empty street in Allegheny.

"Have the ordinances any chance of passing councils, and will you give them favorable consideration if they do?" he was asked.

"It is too early to discuss that question," was the reply. "Whatever is for the best interests of the people will be done. I have not even read the ordinances, and do not know what provisions they contain. The ordinances have not been presented to the corporations committee, and I know nothing about them, except what I see in the papers."

William Kaufman, the president of both lines, was also asked further about the proposed roads. He reiterated his former statements that the roads will be built by the incorporators. He said in answer to a question that he had no assurances that Allegheny councils would pass the ordinances.

SHOT HIS COMPANION, THEN TOOK HIS HAT

W. L. Lenhart shot and slightly wounded S. Hamilton of Braddock at Third avenue and Cherry alley last night about 9 o'clock. The men had been drinking and quarreled. Lenhart drew a small revolver and shot his companion in the head, inflicting a scalp wound. Hamilton came to Central station, where his wound was dressed. He was held on a charge of drunkenness. Lenhart was arrested later. After wounding his companion Lenhart changed hats with Hamilton, and when arrested a small hole was found in the crown of the hat he wore.

MAJ. SWEARINGEN DIES SUDDENLY

Was Stricken With Paralysis While in an Elevator in the Park Building.

HAD BRILLIANT WAR RECORD

Maj. T. Brent Swearingen, prominent in financial and insurance circles and distinguished for his valor during the civil war, was stricken with paralysis while in an elevator in the Park building at noon yesterday, and died five minutes later after being removed to one of the offices on the eleventh floor.

Maj. Swearingen had been identified with the insurance business in Pittsburgh for over 40 years. He was one of the organizers of the Armenia Insurance Company. He was a staunch Democrat and was several times put forward by his party for offices of honor. He was a candidate for state senator against George H. Anderson and also opposed Thomas M. Bayne for congress. For many years Maj. Swearingen resided in Lincoln avenue, Allegheny, but five years ago he purchased a 500-acre plantation near Charlottesville, Va., where he has since lived with his family.

Maj. Swearingen was born in Wheeling W. Va., in 1833, and located in Pittsburgh in 1858, after having engaged in business in Philadelphia for a number of years. At the outbreak of the civil war he enlisted with the Ninth Pennsylvania Reserves, and was made an adjutant under Col. Fagar Jackson. Later, when Col. Jackson was promoted, Maj. Swearingen was also promoted and made captain and adjutant general.

During the war he had occasion to twice read his obituary. Twice he was shot through the body and each time reported dead in the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh newspapers. Once at Mechanicsburg and again at Fredericksburg he fell in battle. At Fredericksburg his life was spared through the fact that he was a Mason. Shot through the left lung, he was discovered lying on the field by the Confederates. He gave the Masonic signal of distress for the purpose of asking the enemy to notify his family of his death. There were several Masons among his discoverers, and they at once relieved his injuries and under cover of night carried him on their shoulders for six miles to a hospital maintained exclusively for officers of the Confederate army. When convalescent he was taken to Libby prison, from whence he was taken out time after time to attend Masonic lodge meetings held by Confederate soldiers. On these occasions he was also tendered elaborate fare in comparison to the regular prison menu.

After this last wound he was incapacitated for active service, but was continued in the office of captain and adjutant general on the staff of Gen. Brooke. On October 11, 1865, he was honorably mustered out, after being brevetted major.

After the war he returned to Pittsburgh and engaged in the insurance business with Maj. W. G. McCandless, under the firm name of Swearingen & McCandless. In 1870 he married Eleanor, eldest daughter of the late Christian Ihmsen of the South Side. In 1885 he dissolved partnership with Maj. McCandless and retired from active business to engage in the management of his private affairs. Since purchasing his estate in Charlottesville, Maj. Swearingen divided his time between that place and his office in the Farmers Bank building. Shortly after his marriage he joined the Roman Catholic church, and has since been identified with that denomination.

He was a member of Pittsburgh lodge 25, F. and A. M., of the G. A. R. and the Military Order of the Loyal Legion. He is survived by five daughters and one son—Mrs. William Pitts, Eleanor, Amelia, Christina, Claie and Brent.

The remains were taken to the undertaking rooms of H. Samson and his family notified. His son, Brent, will arrive here this morning and arrange for the funeral.

MASONS WELL PLEASED.

Trip to Wheeling as Guests of Lodge There a Success.

The 350 members of local Masonic blue lodges, who made up the special party over the Wabash to Wheeling, returned to Pittsburgh at an early hour yesterday morning, well pleased with the trip. The visitors were met by a committee from Wheeling Lodge No. 5 and escorted to the temple, where refreshments were served. Afterwards the second and third degrees were conferred, Past Grand Master George Hatch assisting in the work.

The train left Wheeling on its return at 2 a. m., arriving here a couple of hours later. The local committee was headed by George R. Moore. The Wabash officials in charge of the train were Traveling Passenger Agent W. S. Turnbull, City Passenger Agent H. L. Purdy and Trainmaster B. Bothman.

Lost His Diamond Pin.

Florence McCullough of 110 Anderson street and J. C. Wilkins and George McMahon of 114 Church avenue, Allegheny, were given a hearing before Magistrate Abernathy yesterday on suspicion of having stolen a diamond pin, valued at $175, from a Clearfield county man who gives his name as Paul Jones. Wilkins and the woman were discharged, and McMahon was held pending a search for the lost pin, which has not been found.

Charles Ehlers Succeeds His Father.

Charles Ehlers, Jr., was yesterday appointed chief engineer of Allegheny City by Director McIlvain. Mr. Ehlers succeeds his father, who died last Tuesday morning. For several years the appointee worked in the city engineer's office, but for the past 12 years has been engaged in private business.

THE FRIEND MAKER.

Food-drink That Does That.

"In the nine years Postum Food Coffee has been on the market it has made many thousands of staunch friends, but apparently none better than the clerk of courts at Toledo, British Honduras, who has sent a list of names of people in Central and South America who now use Postum in place of coffee, explaining in detail their cases. He says:

"Have much pleasure in writing you this letter for the good Postum has done myself and friends in this district. The attached list of persons to whom I have recommended Postum will, I venture to say, give you great satisfaction. I have given the names and addresses so anyone can verify my statement by writing to them" (full particulars with name and addresses will be sent my mail to anyone). "On the list the persons marked from 1 to 11 were confirmed tea drinkers and when I spoke to them about drinking Postum they laughed at the idea of giving up tea. But I insisted on their giving Postum a trial before condemning it, and went so far as to give some of them a package. They all use Postum now and nothing else.

"From No. 12 to 19 were coffee fiends, my wife included, and they all also thought it absurd to try to replace coffee by any other drink, but after some persuasion I got them to try it and now they all use Postum.

"No. 14, 15 and 16 suffered from nervous prostration and sleeplessness when they drank coffee. No. 10, Mr. Lucas, had been ordered by doctors not to use tea or coffee, and had been experimenting to find something to drink. Postum has filled the bill and now he not only orders it for himself, but for sale. Some of these people did not like Postum at first because they did not know how to make it, but I invited them to my house and gave them Postum, making it according to directions on the package, and they all found it delicious.

"Now, I will tell you how I came in contact with Postum. Mr. Wells, living in Toledo district, mentioned Postum and gave me a package for trial, he was so sure it would help me, as I suffered from Coffee drinking. From that time I became a convert and thought I could not do without it.

"I am also assistant collector of customs at the port of Punta Gorda, and I know how the popularity of Postum is increasing." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

MODEL OF "TECH" SHOWS HOW BUILDING WILL LOOK

Members of Committee Approve the Representation Made by Architects. Mr. Carnegie to See It.

Instead of drawings, a model constructed on a scale of one-eighth inch to the foot, was exhibited to the members of the Technical schools committee by Architect Henry Hornbostel of Palmer & Hornbostel at the meeting yesterday afternoon. The model was accepted as showing even better than drawings the plans for the schools, and it was given the unqualified approval of the committee.

It was decided that Mr. Carnegie should have an opportunity to inspect this model before the public would be given a chance to view it. Yesterday it was seen by a number of the members of the Institute board and will be seen by the others today. This evening it will be sent by express to New York, and some day next week Architect Hornbostel and Director Hamerschlag will exhibit it to Mr. Carnegie.

If Mr. Carnegie is satisfied with the model, which shows the progress up to this time, photographs will be made and furnished for publication.

Weather—Snow or Rain. Yesterday's Temperature—Max. 43; Min. 33.

Saturday, January 21, 1905.

GENTLEMEN:

Plenty of Collars Today? Yes.

11c each, $1.25 a dozen. Regular 20c collar. 17 different styles.

Plenty of Cuffs Today? Yes.

15c a pair, $1.70 a dozen. Regular 25c cuffs. 5 different styles.

Plenty of White Unlaundered Shirts Today? Yes.

50c each. Open front and back, open back. Kind of shirt that sells for 75c. Almost all sizes in pleated shirts, open back and front.

Plenty of Four-in-Hands Today? Yes.

25c each—2½-inch Four-in-Hands—fine silk. Kind that sell for 50c.

Plenty of Colored Negligee Shirts Today? No.

There's the rub. We're not experts in telepathy—can't gauge our masculine public's mind to that nicety to discern in advance what that public is going to favor as a whole.

Rather thought we were overdoing the thing when we ordered many thousands of Negligee Shirts—both white and colors—for this special sale, and lo! the day is gone—and so are the shirts.

Never was there such shirt selling as was witnessed in this store yesterday. Don't read us as saying the collars and cuffs were not in the first day's attack—they were, good and strong—more sold than in any former first-day sale. But it was the shirts that caught the men—and rightly. They were the best that men ever had offered them for the different prices quoted.

As for choice today among the Colored and the White Negligee Shirts, we can't say much about it. There are sizes left in each lot, and collectively choice is first rate. But to say your size is here, in the particular style you have picked out, we can't encourage you. The best plan is to come in and look over the remainders.

Some people like statistics. It gives us pleasure to state that yesterday we had 45 salespeople in the Men's Furnishing Store.

Today for a Glimpse at the New Spring Millinery.

Advance styles—models that are unusually pretty—of early Spring ideas in Tucked Chiffon Hats, Toques, Turbans—newest tints of brown, light blue, cardinal, navy, black and white.

Semi-trimmed Hats, as it were—that is, some women would wear them as they are, others might want a garnish here and there.

Under price by a third—$3.50, $4.00, $5.00 and $6.50.

Fifteen styles from which to select, and very, elegant they are.

For Winter resort wear, newest ideas emanating from Paris and London—smartest Turbans, Toques and Colonial types.

Very prettily trimmed and shown in newest Spring shades, especially in bronze green, reseda green, violet, bluett, cardinal, champagne, black and in many combinations.

Prices range, $5.00, $7.50 and up to $10.00.

Flower Hats, imported styles that are very elegant, $5.00 to $12.50.

Reductions in the price of new and seasonable Flowers—and remember that flowers will be largely used the coming Spring.

Roses, 25c, 45c to 75c per packet.
Violets, 25c to 95c per packet.
Foliage, 25c to $1.00 per packet.

The quality of these Flowers is guaranteed to be best values for the prices quoted.

A Little Ad In Black.

Referring to two numbers in black dress goods, just the kind that every woman admires—goods that are worth $1.00 a yard and cheap at that price.

Today for 50c a yard.

For this price of a half-dollar choice is from 44-inch Black German Voile.

42-inch French Cashmere Cheviot.

Men's $3.00 Hats, $1.65.

These hats are from our regular stock of $3.00 Derbies and Soft Hats. They are up to the moment in style, and there is every color in the collection.

We are quite sure we have your size.

The Restaurant Lectures.

Mrs. Haxworth-Wallace will discuss today Sickroom Dainties—showing how to prepare Whole Wheat Biscuit, Savory Custard, Chicken Molds, Egg Timbales—3 to 5 P.M.

Sorry to say it, but today will be the last day for receiving a free lesson in Art Needlework from that most popular of teachers, Prof. Takahashi. Besides giving individual instruction during the hours of the class, Prof. Takahashi will also, at each session, deliver a lecture on the diversified methods of executing needlework that is denominated art. Morning session and lecture, 9 to 11; afternoon session and lecture, 3 to 5. All women are invited to attend.

Women's Wool Waists, $2.50.

Made of a French Fabric and Formerly Selling for $5.00 to $7.50.

The story doesn't end there. To complete it we have pleasure in saying many of these waists were made by Fisk, Clark & Flagg—no firm in the country being more noted for the fineness of its waists. Most of the fast selling flannel waists of the season are also in this lot.

Sizes are broken, but a good assortment from which to choose.

New 1905 Summer Waists, $1.00.

They're Worth $2.50.

A customer could hardly believe the waists were only $1.00, and wanted to know what was wrong with them.

Nothing. Simply a fortunate purchase we made which allows us to sell them for the even dollar.

650 left—mostly white, but quite a few pretty gray chambray, white embroidered lawn and white madras waists.

Men's Clothes for Little Enough.

We maintain that our reduced prices on men's clothes are about as small as the average man could reasonably ask to have quoted him. And this, please remember, pertains to our Totally Different Clothing—nothing like unto it in the Greater City.

Men have choice from our entire stock of overcoats, from suits of fancy cassimere and fancy cheviot, from trousers of fancy cassimere and worsted. Here are the reduced prices—

And on through a line of reductions to $65.00 overcoats for $50.00.

$18.00 Suits have been reduced to $12.50
$20.00 Suits have been reduced to $14.00
$22.50 Suits have been reduced to $16.50
$25.00 Suits have been reduced to $18.50

Trousers, formerly $5 and $5.50, reduced to . . . $4.00
Trousers, formerly $6.50 and up to $7.50, reduced to $4.75

Young Men's Suits and Overcoats.

A young man will look as well groomed in one of these underpriced suits and overcoats of ours as he would in any suit costing five to six times as much in a custom tailor shop.

$10.00 Suits and Overcoats reduced to $ 7.50
$12.00 Suits and Overcoats reduced to $ 8.00
$15.00 Suits and Overcoats reduced to $10.00

And so on through the lines up to $20.00 suits for $14.00.

And the Boys Are Not Forgotten.

If ever there was a time when parents could clothe their boys with substantial suits and overcoats for about half of regular prices, that time is now, and the place right in our large Boys' Clothing Department of the second floor, East. Some samples of how we measure reductions—

Double-Breasted Suits of fine imported Scotch material, the suits made for us by one of the best boys' tailors in the country—sizes for boys from 8 to 16 years—former prices $8.00, $9.00, $10.00, today for the suit, just $5.00

The interstate commerce commission has decided that the charging of higher rates upon live stock than upon live stock products is an unlawful discrimination, thus redressing a grievance which has been the subject of complaint by the Chicago live stock exchange. But as matters now stand the incriminated railroads may ignore the decision and years of litigation will be required to make it effective. In the meanwhile the discrimination will have worked results that will be permanent in their effect upon industry.

A recent addition to the list of papers opposing the ancient custom of having congress meet more than a year after the election of its members is the Oshkosh Northwestern. It pertinently points out that while transportation and other conditions more than a century ago made necessary a considerable lapse of time between election and service, the fathers wisely provided in the Constitution to meet other conditions, leaving the power to congress to alter the time of meeting. Unquestionably there is a growing sentiment favorable to the meeting of congress "fresh from the hands of the people" and in opposition to the "short session" of the expiring congress after the house of the new has been elected.

A few years ago tobacco growers were assured that a fine quality of wrapper could be grown if the leaves were shaded from the sun and rain. This idea had the indorsement of the agricultural department, so the experiment was made on a large scale, especially in Connecticut, where growers were told that they might equal the Sumatra leaf. In general the cultivation of shade grown tobacco has been disappointing, but the agricultural department insists that it has been over done. Possibly this may be the case. Twenty-five years ago tobacco growing itself passed through a similar experience, for it was announced that its profits were much greater than those of other farm products. As a result people went into the business regardless of their own experience or the aptitude of the land for the crop and the invariable reaction followed.

In spite of the reports of poor sanitary conditions and the fever breeding atmosphere of Panama there are thousands who show their willingness to take the risks by applying to the civil service examiners for permission to take the tests that might place them on the eligible list for work in that country. Fully 5,000 men took the examination this week in various parts of the country, although the prospect for work is not definite and it may be a year before many can start for the isthmus. Of these over 1,000 applicants are for simple clerical positions that require no especial training and 1,000 more for places as foremen or timekeepers. About the same number have applied for places in the engineering department in any capacity from transit manipulation to carrying a rod. The possibility of adventure in a new field makes a strong appeal to a numerous class of people.

An editorial in the American Dairyman makes a spirited attack upon Dr. B. H. Warren, dairy and food commissioner, because he has proposed to investigate butter coloring matters and to prosecute persons using deleterious matters for that purpose. The Dairyman argues that consumers demand the "June grass" color in their butter and that it is legitimate to supply it during those seasons when it is not imparted by the cream. This is fallacious reasoning. Dr. Warren should prosecute every case of the use of deleterious coloring matter. There is no more reason for permitting the sale of colored butter than for allowing the sale of colored oleomargarine, though the animus of the Dairyman's attack is the desire to preserve this difference. White is as much the natural color of winter butter as it is of all oleo compounds. If the butter makers want yellow butter, let them feed the cows lily leaves, as the grandmothers did.

An afternoon contemporary falls into a remarkable series of errors in discussing the bill of Mr. Pendleton to encourage forestry. Mr. Pendleton's bill provides a rebate of 80 per cent of the taxes on certain woodland, specifically described, no single allowance to exceed 50 acres and the rebate not to exceed 45 cents an acre in any case. Our contemporary says it is impossible to estimate the bounty to be paid by the state under this act and argues the increasing price of lumber should be a sufficient incentive to owners to preserve their timber. As a matter of fact, the increasing price is the incentive that leads owners to dispose of their timber and the proposed rebate would not cost the state any sum in bounties. The rebate would be from county assessments, made up by a slightly increased levy upon other property. The purpose, we assume, is to induce owners of waste land to improve it by planting timber and to preserve the vanishing woodlands now held by farmers.

Legislative Reapportionment.

Philadelphia members of the legislature are said to be opposed to any reapportionment of districts, because the change would disarrange the holdings of Philadelphia statesmen. The reason assigned is certainly an unworthy one, and it is to be hoped the Philadelphians will not persist if they have any intention to oppose a new apportionment. They will lose nothing in the aggregate, but will be entitled to one additional representative.

Allegheny county is more deeply interested. It is entitled to four more representatives than it now has in the house at Harrisburg. This is on the basis of the census of 1900. There is good reason to believe its proportionate population has grown rapidly since, probably enough to entitle it to five additional members. Under the existing apportionment this county is discriminated against and common fairness demands readjustment. Opposition from the few rural counties that will suffer reductions in representation is naturally expected. They are called on to give up material advantage. Opposition from Philadelphia, however, is unnatural, for while reapportionment may leave a few men without districts, the delegation will actually be increased. In any event, it is worth while for Allegheny county to try to get action.

Beaver County Crimes.

Following the Lance farm tragedy, the climax of a series of robberies in Beaver county, there comes the attempt to extort money from Mrs. Pfeifer on penalty of having her house burned. Murder was the accompaniment of the robbery of a restaurant keeper a short time prior to the Lance tragedy and murderous assault upon the aged tolltaker at the Monaca bridge preceded that. It is a fair presumption a majority of these crimes have been committed by the same persons. There may be as many as four or five in the gang. If they were put out of business Beaver county would be a comparatively safe place of residence or sojourn.

Here is an illustration of the need of a state constabulary. Had two or three trained men been detailed on the case when the aged tolltaker was assaulted and robbed the subsequent murder and robberies would probably have been averted. At the very least the criminals would have been apprehended after the murder. As matters stand a part of them are still at large and there is nothing like certainty of their arrest even yet. It is not improbable this same gang may have been operating in other counties, while waiting for their outrages in Beaver to be forgotten.

Criminals, however shrewd, leave a trail behind them. Criminal catchers know how to pick up the clues. Those left after one crime may be insufficient to lead to arrest, but reinforced by others will form the chain that binds. The way to get the clues is to send men after them who can follow them up relentlessly. The total criminal population is comparatively small, though it is apt to increase in direct proportion to the security enjoyed by its active members.

Canada's Difficulty.

Canadian ambitions toward the building up of ocean commerce have sustained a decided check from conditions which are insuperable. While the Canadian postmaster general has been making efforts with successful results to build up steamship connections between Canada and Mexico, both on the Atlantic and the Pacific, thus making an early start to connect with the commerce which will be developed by the isthmian canal, a marked reverse has been encountered by plans by which it was hoped to keep navigation open in the mouth of the St. Lawrence. It is admitted ice-breakers have failed to keep open the channel and the Allan steamship line is now talking of leaving Montreal for New York. The smaller vessels of the fleet will continue to run to Montreal when the harbor is open, but the largest boats will be diverted to a port that does not become icebound in winter. Canada's great difficulty is that it lies so far north that its harbors become icebound in winter. It is nearly as badly off as regards possibilities of ocean commerce as Russia in eastern Asia, and the adjacent New England states would be as valuable to her as southern Manchuria to Russia. Canada has, however, an unobstructed commercial outlet through our ports, under the system of permitting to import through our territory in bond, but Canada would dearly love to relieve herself of this dependence upon our favor. There does not appear to be any prospect that she will be able to do so.

The Czar's Troubles.

The state of riot and disorder into which so many parts of Russia have fallen has been brought close home to the czar by the outbreak of a general strike in St. Petersburg, which is spreading so rapidly and is meeting with so much sympathy that it is feared that the newspapers may have to suspend publication for lack of workmen and the city may be plunged in darkness by the shutting down of the lighting plants. A curious feature of the proceedings is the timidity of the police, who are actually said to have advised workingmen called out to comply for fear that their refusal will cause trouble. The strikers are planning an immense demonstration before the imperial palace with the presentation of a petition to the czar asking his aid in having their demands granted. It does not appear that the movement has a political character, but it may readily take a revolutionary aspect, and that phase of the situation is reported to be troubling the czar, who has set on foot inquiries as to the feeling among the troops.

The internal condition of Russia is becoming such as to recall the fate of the autocracy which once existed in France, and it is being recalled that then, too, an outburst of political force which wise statesmanship might have directed to the advantage of the state caught in its whirl a monarch who, while personally amiable and well meaning, was weak and irresolute. Unless the czar is able to find a Bismarck who is able to repress revolution while admitting such degree of constitutional government as is compatible with the safety of the state the prospect is a gloomy one. Moreover, it is not only necessary that a man of that type shall be found, but the czar will have to support him with the unflinching loyalty with which William I. sustained Bismarck. M. de Witte is frequently referred to as the Russian Bismarck, but no statesman can do much unless he has a firm foundation in the character of the sovereign he serves. The great difficulty is that the czar appears to be incapable of forming decided convictions and abiding by them.

The Business Situation.

A slight lull is reported in general trade circles which is not unusual at this season. It is reflected in less favorable comparisons of railroad earnings and in a quieter tone of the commodity markets. It is not surprising that this condition should appear in the iron trade. The latter made such progress toward complete recovery during the past six weeks that there is now a disposition on the part of both producers and consumers to await future developments. The consumption of pig iron has apparently overtaken even the increased production, and this in the face of a considerable advance in prices. If 1905 is to witness a demand in excess of the previous maximum recorded in 1902, then manufacturers are warranted in holding off to see whether this demand will be sufficient to justify higher prices. On the other hand, the fact of increased capacity for production may warrant consumers in holding off in the hope of obtaining concessions. This seems to be the attitude of the railroads, which have not yet placed the volume of orders for steel rails which have been reported at the corresponding season in previous years. The forthcoming quarterly report of the U. S. Steel Corporation will be especially interesting in the item of orders booked. If the total reaches expectations it will no doubt have an influence upon general sentiment regarding the outlook.

An important event of the week was the settlement of the strike of New England cotton mill employes, which had been dragging along for months. The settlement was on the basis of acceptance of the reduced wages offered by the employers, subject to an investigation with the object of determining whether conditions in the industry justify the maintenance of the old scale of wages. Another incident in labor circles was the difference which arose between the Pennsylvania railroad and one class of its employes which threatened a strike on that system.

Our foreign trade for the calendar year 1904, the report of which was made by the bureau of statistics during the week, was not so unfavorable as appears at first sight. Compared with the preceding year there was a decrease in our exports of merchandise of $33,400,000 and an increase in our imports of $40,412,000, the balance of trade for the year being the smallest since 1897. The favorable feature of the report, however, is the evidence of an expansion in our foreign market for non-agricultural commodities. Our exports of farm products decreased $112,000,000 during the year, due entirely to the falling off in breadstuffs, but exports of non-agricultural products increased $79,000,000 and were the largest in the history of the country. The figures also show that in 1904 we exported $121,138,000 gold, which was $36,335,000 more than we imported, but this is explained by the fact $40,000,000 of the exports were for the purchase of the Panama canal.

Exports of gold continued during the past week, and the international banking houses have engaged all the gold bars which the New York assay office can furnish during the remainder of the month; but despite this movement, wholly unusual at this season, domestic money markets have ruled easy and rates are still below the parity of foreign money markets. The feature in Wall street has been rampant speculation in a few stocks which rank below the grads of good investments. The professional character of the dealings was revealed by the fact that nearly the entire capital stock of one company changed hands on the stock exchange during the week and the price was forced out of line from a conservative investment basis. The movement did not attract the general public, and was entirely separate and apart from any change in legitimate business conditions.

The Pittsburgh Post in an effort to abuse Gov. Pennypacker over the shoulders of Gov. Folk, pays the Pennsylvanian a high compliment. It declares the state and its interests would have suffered immeasurably had Gov. Pennypacker resigned. Under the circumstances why is the Post so bitter against the governor?

Maj. T. Brent Swearingen, whose shockingly sudden death yesterday is recorded in the news columns, was once among the leading business men of this city. He was one of the largest holders in the Alta Land Company and heavily interested in the old Penn bank. Among the older residents his death will be widely mourned.

County Commissioner Evans' indorsement of Greater Pittsburgh more nearly expresses public sentiment in McKeesport than the meeting recently held there.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Members of the New York stock exchange are guessing today on the identity of two young women who had the audacity to interrupt the proceedings of the board by music from a violin and a song. It was a few minutes before the close of the exchange when the sensation came. On the Broad street side there is a public gallery which is usually well filled with sightseers. In the midst of the excitement attending the closing trading occasional strains of music were heard in the big board room. Those who looked up to the gallery saw a vigorous young woman playing a violin. On her right was her partner, a young woman quietly but richly dressed, who was singing. The noise of the exchange was a trifle too loud to make out the song, but from the vigorous actions of the violinist and the bird-like actions of the singer the guess was made that "Teasing, Teasing, I Was Only Teasing You," was the piece.

Before quietness settled, six attendants had rushed to the gallery to oust the disturbers. At first a gentle push on the arm of the violinist passed unnoticed, but finally when it became apparent that force would be used, the two young women left. Coming down the elevator after the performance in the gallery, one of the women explained to the elevator boy, "I did it anyway, and won the bet. I won $2,000 for both of us."

Dread Famine Is Threatened.

Newest in the line of dread things that may happen is the automobile famine. So great has been the rush for new cars at both the American manufacturers' exhibition and the importers' salon that some factories have sold out their entire stock. The owners, with big forces working night and day, are perplexed to know how they can meet the demand. Most of the exhibitors were sanguine that they would enjoy heavy sales as a result of automobile week, but it is doubtful that they could have been prepared for the unprecedented demand even if they had foreseen it.

At Madison Square garden the long aisles leading between displays of American automobiles continue to be packed almost to the police reserve point, and the exhibits have to be roped off. The garden is generally accepted as a pretty big affair, but ought to be several times as large to properly accommodate those who wish to see the automobiles. One might almost say that the interesting crowd itself is so big that it can't be looked at.

Advice from the Oldest Typist.

"Maintain your dignity at all times. Have no social conversation with your employer. Do not converse familiarly with other employes in the building. Refuse all invitations to dinner or the theater. To accept them means eventual disappointment or disgrace. Any girl that accepts social invitations from chance acquaintances met in a business way will live to regret it. Such a course ends, if not in the girl losing her position, then in her own degradation."

This is the advice given to girls who mean to become typewriters by Mrs. Mary S. Saunders, the first woman to take up typewriting in the country and who has just celebrated her 30th anniversary as an expert stenographer and typewriter. It will sound like hard lines to some girls who are today basking in the sunshine of their employers' smiles or happen to be the recipient of favors from some of the "chance" acquaintances of whom Mrs. Saunders speaks.

Mrs. Maybrick Visits Sing Sing.

For the purpose of comparison, it is said, and to gather facts to be used in a book in which prison life in this country and England will be treated in great detail, Mrs. Florence Maybrick, who spent 15 years in British prisons, following a conviction of poisoning her husband, recently visited Sing Sing prison, spending nearly an entire day there. That Mrs. Maybrick had visited Sing Sing prison became known only today, although she was there Wednesday. At the same time, it was said, she virtually admitted that she wanted to go through the famous institution to gather material for a book on prison life.

She appeared at the prison early in the day and was conducted to the warden's office. There she made known her wants, and Superintendent of Prisons Collins was sent for. He conducted Mrs. Maybrick through the busy workshops, where hundreds of convict laborers were employed. She also expressed a strong desire to visit the death chamber. This was allowed, and the woman asked many and detailed questions as to the manipulation of the electric chair. She also was shown through the death house, where those condemned to death are confined.

Likes New Mormon Son-in-Law.

George Potts, who has probably in the last few years built more houses in the Bedford district of Brooklyn than any other man, is so pleased with his daughter's marriage to R. Roger McGuire, a young Mormon lawyer, that he has given them a fine house in Saratoga avenue, near St. Marks avenue. When they return from Washington, where they are on their wedding tour, they will go to housekeeping.

Mrs. McGuire, who was Fannie Elizabeth Potts, has been considered one of the belles of the reorganized Mormon colony. There are two Mormon colonies in Brooklyn, and the followers of the Bedford district Mormons assert that they are not only opposed to polygamous marriages, but that they are constantly fighting the Mormons who secretly hold to plural marriage.

"Cotton King's" Seat Transferred.

Notice was posted this afternoon on the floor of the stock exchange that the seat of Daniel J. Sully, the deposed "cotton king," had been transferred to Stuyvesant Fish Morris, Jr. It is understood that Mr. Sully received $76,000. This means a profit of $8,000 as he paid for it $68,000.

In January, 1904, it was announced that the firm of Daniel J. Sully & Co., then at the height of its bull campaign on cotton had purchased membership in the stock exchange. At that time the firm held membership in the New York cotton and coffee exchanges. Sully made his first appearance on the floor of the stock exchange on January 21, and less than two months later, March 18, his firm was so swamped by the wholesale decline in the price of cotton that it was forced to suspend on the cotton exchange.

The Typewriter Girl.

Humorists have made the typewriter girl the butt of many jokes, but she could not occasionally marry her employer and turn upon him the tables of dictation if she had not brought to his office a grace and charm which 30 years ago it would have lacked. The vast volume of business now done in the commercial world would be almost impossible without her and her machine.—New York World.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

The world is full of roses,
And the roses full of dew,
And the dew is full of Heavenly love
That drips for me and you.
—Riley.

After all is said and done, is life worth the worry and the toil and the pain of living?

If pain and toil and worry were all there is in it life would not be worth living; but fortunately there is something more in it, more of good than of ill, more of light than of darkness, more of warmth than of cold.

The trouble with those who complain most is that they are not getting the good, the bright and the warmth.

Instead of keeping on the sunny side they stay in the shadows, linger among the ills and shiver in the cold places.

These may not and probably do not know they are to blame for their own discomforts; and not only for their's alone, but for the ills and discomforts of others. And yet, if they will look into the matter carefully they will find that they are at fault, and not the good Providence that is over all in all.

The pessimist who suffers day in and day out, whose sleep is disturbed by dreams of want and woe, and whose tongue knows not the sweetness of words of praise, and to whose heart thankfulness is unknown, is to be pitied as one who is defective through his own negligence, or his want of proper discernment.

You can pity the pessimist, but you cannot sympathize with him.

* * * * *

Put away your troubles, get on the grass and revel in the sunlight, and you will find this earth a very playground with flowers and shrubs and trees and everything necessary to make man the happy, contented creature God intended him to be.

Yes, that is easier said than done, and yet it is easier to live a life of contentment and comparative happiness than to exist in the cheerless, chilly atmosphere of pessimism.

If you have been born right, reared right and educated right you will not be a pessimist. Pessimism is wrong, or rather the pessimist sees things from a wrong angle. He has become twisted, as one may say, or is mentally cross-eyed.

To be a pessimist you must believe that the world was made for man, and was more or less sadly spoiled in the making.

The fact of the matter is that the earth, or the world, as we say, was made long enough before man was brought forth. And when the earth was ready man came, along with other animals. His chief characteristic was his ability to adapt himself to existing conditions, such as cold and heat, flood and drought, wind and lightning.

Man's ability to adapt himself not only to the existing conditions of the elements in the different latitudes, but to the various means of sustaining life is sometimes wonderful. He is practically omnivorous as regards foods, and can manage to live almost anywhere on the face of the earth or on the waters. His dominion is as wide as the earth itself, as high as the clouds and as deep as the sea.

And yet he dares to say that he has not been given a fair chance in life.

* * * * *

If you had been taught that you had been made for the world, and not the world for you, and that your life would be what you made it, then taught to do things, and so disciplined that you could do them well, you would have no cause to complain of the way the world is using you, or rather the world would have no cause to complain of the way you are treating it.

The things of which you complain are mostly raps and thwacks given you by the world in return for your abuse of the opportunities it has offered to you day by day.

And yet the world is generous and forgiving, and goes right on offering you all sorts of fine opportunities just as if you were one of the best fellows alive.

If you would only see you would find that the good is everywhere at hand and, as in the Garden of Eden, it is only for you to choose between it and evil and you must take one or the other. That is, if you do not accept the good on the reasonable, rational terms on which it is offered you shall take the evil, seeing that evil is only the absence of good, as cold is merely the absence of heat, and darkness but the absence of light.

Thus it would seem that the happiness, prosperity and success of the human race turns on the matter of education. Those who are so educated as to understand this old world, and to recognize the opportunities it offers as they pass, are able to see the good in things, and to appreciate them.

This suggests Col. Realf's famous poem, with its singularly appropriate title:

Fair are the flowers and children, but their subtle suggestion is fairer;
Rare is the roseburst of dawn, but the secret
that clasps it is rarer:
Sweet the exultance of song, but the strain that precedes it is sweeter,
And never was poem yet writ, but the meaning
outmastered the meter.

Never a daisy that grows, but a mystery guideth the growing;
Never a river that flows, but a majesty sceptres the flowing;
Never a Shakespeare that soared, but a stronger than he did enfold him;
Nor ever a prophet foretells, but a mightier seer hath foretold him.

Back of the canvas that throbs, the painter is hinted and hidden;
Into the statue that breathes, the soul of the sculptor is bidden;
Under the joy that is felt lie the infinite issues of feeling;
Crowning the glory revealed is the glory that crowns the revealing.

Great are the symbols of being, but that which is symboled is greater;
Vast the create and behold, but vaster the inward creator;
Back of the sound broods the silence, back of the gift stands the giving;
Back of the hand that receives thrill the sensitive nerves of receiving.

Space is as nothing to spirit, the deed is outdone by the doing;
The heart of the wooer is warm, but warmer the heart of the wooing.
And up from the pit where these shiver, and up from the heights where those shine,
Twin voices and shadows swim starward, and the essence of life is divine.
—Richard Realf.

Need of State Constabulary.

A state constabulary is one of the greatest needs of this thickly and variously populated state. For lack of it our country districts are exposed to the depredations of the lawless and evil-minded. A protracted strike in our country district fills the people with terror at the sense of their helplessness. The National guard is compelled to do police duty at heavy expense to the state, and that anomalous creation, the coal and iron police, is called into being to do inefficiently and with much friction that which a smaller regular constabulary force could do much better, with less resistance and bad blood. The governor tells the legislature that the time is come for it to authorize the appointment of a constabulary of sufficient force to be used whenever needed in the state for the suppression of disorder.—Philadelphia Press.

Treasury for Cortelyou.

The report that President Roosevelt has determined to make Mr. Cortelyou secretary of the treasury is of decided interest. Secretary Shaw, it appears, is to retire in June, and the announcement of Mr. Roosevelt's intentions, while not official, is generally accepted as authentic. We think the choice an excellent one and believe it will be so considered by the business men of the country at large. We do not regard Mr. Cortelyou as a trained financier or as a profound student of political economy, but he possesses in a very marked degree what we deem to be the very highest requisite and qualification for the place; and that is sound common sense.—New York Sun.

A Clean Election.

Senatorial elections in Pennsylvania have seldom been free from contention and acrimony. Not infrequently they have been marked by scandal and prolonged struggle. The factious bitterness and the open corruption which have signalized some recent contests are fresh in the public mind. It is rare that an election has been so clean, so worthy and so satisfactory from start to finish as that of Senator Knox.—Philadelphia Press.

Foreign Markets

By L. W. STRAYER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The message sent to congress yesterday by President Roosevelt in which he recommended the appointment of six commercial attaches of our foreign embassies whose duties will be to forward the trade interests of the United States abroad, is another step in advance along the line of increasing our foreign commerce. It is proposed that these attaches devote themselves to investigation of conditions of the countries to which they are sent, for the purpose of finding markets for American goods and to extend markets that already have gained a foothold. They will act as general sales agents, only instead of looking after the interests of any one firm they will represent all who make goods to sell.

I have taken occasion to speak in these letters recently of our immense and growing commercial interests in foreign countries, calling attention, as an instance of our interests in the preservation of China's territorial integrity, to the fact that we sell more than $75,000,000 annually in Asia. I have also pointed out the possibilities that Abyssinia offers to American trade, that black empire now being opened up to civilization with the advent of railroads and other progressive influences. The state department is giving all these subjects careful consideration and is overlooking no opportunity to take a step toward the eventual commercial conquest of the world which is clearly the mission of the United States. In every way the administration is seeking to open up new markets to foreign countries and the machinery of the government is being improved and extended constantly for this purpose.

Will Broaden American Trade.

Our consuls make frequent reports to the state department giving information that is calculated to be of interest to the manufacturers, showing where this or that line of goods might be introduced to advantage, giving news of large contracts that are to be let and which will necessitate orders for supplies and materials. These facts are given to the public in the form of pamphlets entitled Daily Consular Reports, issued by the department of commerce and labor daily. In this form information is spread before the manufacturers free of charge that would cost them an immense sum of money to obtain themselves. Tips are given that may mean thousands of dollars to enterprising business men.

In addition to these daily reports, the bureau of statistics of the department of commerce and labor issues a monthly bulletin giving the statistics of the foreign and internal commerce of the nation, showing the value of the imports and exports for the month and containing facts that are of inestimable value.

It is for the purpose of reinforcing this government machinery for the collection and dissemination of trade reports that it is proposed to appoint six commercial attaches who are to have free rein and better facilities for supplementing the reports already obtained with information that may help to broaden our markets. They would not be tied down to a single consulate, but would travel about and thus be able to pick up facts that would naturally escape the consuls who are located at their respective posts.

Will Appeal to Business Men.

It is proposed to assign one of these attaches to Austria, Germany, Russia and other countries of Northern Europe. Another will take the southern part of Europe and another Great Britain and her dependencies. One will go to Mexico and South American countries while another will be sent to the far east and the sixth will be held in reserve to go on special missions wherever he may be assigned. The scheme is one that will appeal to the business men of the country, who now, more than ever before, are giving their attention to the export trade and its possibilities. It is estimated that to pay these commercial attaches an annual salary of $5,000 and their traveling expenses will require an appropriation of $50,000. It will be worth many times that amount to the business of the United States, if the right kind of men are chosen, and it is safe to say that Secretary Hay will see to that feature of it.

President Roosevelt suggests that three special men be selected from among the consuls who have made good records for supplying useful information. This is a splendid suggestion and it will doubtless be followed if congress makes the necessary appropriation. Some of the consuls of the United States go to their posts and sleep there, apparently having no ambition other than to draw their salaries and take life easy. They make an occasional perfunctory report, just to keep within instructions, but they never have any information of value. These men, however, are the exceptions. The consular service is full of bright, alert, active men, who have the faculty of observing and of reducing the results of their observations to practicable suggestions. These are the men who make the service of such great value to the business interests of the country and it is from the ranks of these that it is proposed to select the special men whom it is proposed will go on a scouting expedition over the world drumming up trade for Uncle Sam.

Our Goods Sell Themselves.

I do not propose to unload a lot of statistics here, but for the purpose of giving an idea of the importance of our foreign trade, it will be well to note a few figures. In 1900 the exports from the United States amounted to $1,484,773,083. In 1903 they amounted to $1,743,108,783. Thus it will be seen that in a period of 10 years our export trade has just about doubled itself. As we are selling now $1,500,000,000 of goods abroad it will become the administration to hustle and use every means within its power to protect that trade and to further it wherever possible.

The great trouble has been up to this time that congress has never been sufficiently impressed with the consular service as a means of booming business. As President Roosevelt said in his message yesterday, the improvement in the service as a means of advancing the interests of commerce has been brought about by the zeal and energy of the individual consuls rather than by the efforts of the service as a whole. Other nations have placed consuls in out-of-the-way places to await the development that was sure to come some day, while we have only established consulates at points where the business was already established. The result has been that when the sun of civilization dawned upon such countries as Abyssinia, for example, other countries were representing there at the beginning of the era of progress and they stepped in the orders while we waited for the building up of the trade that would justify us in securing a representation there. We have seldom been in on the ground floor at these openings.

Our foreign trade, immense as it is now, is not a monument to American selling ability. We have been poor salesmen. We sell our goods because they are the best that can be obtained in the market, and because we make them cheaply. In short our goods sell themselves.

Merchant Marine as a Factor.

Another thing that shows that this country is awakening to the possibilities of foreign commerce is the interest that has been revived in a merchant marine. The commission appointed at the last session of congress to investigate this subject and to report a bill has done so, though there is little probability that action will be taken on it at this session. The report of the commission shows a "humiliating" situation with reference to our merchant marine. Practically all the goods we sell abroad are sold through foreign agents and they are transported in foreign ships. Here is one paragraph from the commission's report that is worth reproducing:

"Thoughtful men throughout the entire country have now come to see that the question is not of merely building ships or manning ships, important though they may be to large groups of communities. Nor is the question, further, one solely of the national defense, though that of itself, would abundantly justify congressional action. A third imperative motive for the creation of an adequate merchant marine is the need of new and wider markets. Without these there is such a thing as crowding at home in our own prosperity. There is one sure way in which these new and wider markets may be gained. Our own people—merchants, manufacturers, bankers, ship owners, working heartily together—must go and get them. We cannot depend upon the foreigner for this—not on the foreign ship owner more than on the foreign manufacturer or merchant. When the markets are once opened the foreign ship may take our goods for a consideration, which in the long run is sure to be higher than the price granted to the foreign manufacturer.

BLOCKING RATE BILL IN SENATE

Interstate Commerce Committee's Hearings Are Not Taken Seriously.

ONLY PLAYING AGAINST TIME

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.

The senate committee on interstate commerce today asked permission to sit through the sessions of the senate and take testimony on the "great question of railroad rates legislation, so much desired by the president."

The word has gone forth that Senator Elkins, its chairman, and other members of the committee are in "earnest in the matter," and, as an evidence that they are really intent to "do something," this request to hold continuous sessions is pointed out with a great show of virtue and sincerity. But no one who knows the real situation at the senate end of the capitol is deceived. These hearings have been going on for 14 years. It is a move in the interest of the railroads and delay, and is the same old game that the president defeated when he secured the passage of the Cuban reciprocity bill.

It is given out at the senate that prominent railroad men and shippers desire to be heard, and among others that J. Pierpont Morgan, James J. Hill, E. H. Harriman and President Mellen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford will be requested to appear. These men will either be present or be represented at the hearings, and they will be continued until the end of the session.

Senator Cullom Disgusted.

Senator Cullom, the second member on the committee, who is actually in favor of railroad rate legislation, has become disgusted with the situation, and does not hesitate to express his belief that the new series of hearings is only a "blind" for more delay and inaction. One or two other members of the committee laugh at the proceedings now going on.

Senator Elkins, chairman of the senate committee on interstate commerce, is the one factor in the senate committee situation. When pressed for an answer as to what will become of the house bill in the senate, his invariable reply is:

"This is a great question. Nothing can be done in a hurry. We must get all of the testimony from both sides."

E. H. Bacon admitted before the senate committee today that after four years of endeavor to perfect the Quarles-Cooper bill, it "still needs amendments." This made the committee members, and especially Senator Foraker, who brought out the facts, laugh inwardly and outwardly.

Public Sentiment Crystallized.

The senate committee today heard an argument by R. Hudson Burr of the Florida railway commission on the necessity of an increase of the powers of the interstate commerce commission, so as to authorize it to fix rates. He said there was a crystallized public sentiment, which represents about 95 per cent of the people, in support of the proposed legislation.

Asked in what particular the railroads violate the law, Mr. Burr said it is in the way of discrimination and equalities. He also made complaint of delays, and said that big shippers could always get all the cars they want, while small shippers cannot.

Representative Littlefield of Maine introduced a bill today to require all corporations engaged in interstate commerce to make returns to the commissioner of corporations.

Argued Against Rate-Making.

The house committee on interstate and foreign commerce today continued its hearings on the subject of government railroad rate-making. W. D. Hines, representing the Atlantic Coast Line and the Louisville & Nashville railroads, continued his argument in opposition to extending the power of the interstate commerce commission to fix rates. He discussed what the commission could do under the Cooper-Quarles bill, saying it would have legislative as well as judicial functions. The commission, he said, would be detective, prosecutor, attorney for the plaintiff and the champion of the shipper.

H. L. Bond, second vice president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, followed in opposition to the bill authorizing the commission to fix rates. He said it was a radical change of governmental principle. He referred to the record of the commission in the courts as "twenty-two misses, one bullseye and two inside the first ring."

A government rate-making board was necessarily a board of theorists, whereas railroad rates were now made by the shippers and carriers with the common interest of moving commodities so they might enter into the markets of the country in competition with the same commodities from other sections of the country.

Col. Hepburn announced tonight that he had completed his bill and that it would be introduced tomorrow. Its main provisions which give increased power to the interstate commerce commission subject to review by a circuit court of nine judges.

BIG FIRE WAS STARTED BY THIEVES IN CHURCH

Mt. Washington Methodist Congregation Again Suffers Heavy Loss, Midnight Marauders Being Responsible.

Thieves are believed to have started the fire which resulted in the complete destruction of the Mt. Washington Methodist Episcopal church early yesterday morning. When the flames had died away and permitted of an examination of the ruins it was discovered that the church had been looted. A solid silver collection service, which was stored in the building, was gone, and a small safe in which the church records were kept had been tampered with. The hinges and combination had been torn off, but the thieves had evidently been forced to vacate by the fire.

The church authorities propose making a thorough investigation of the robbery and also of the water shortage, which is said caused loss of the church. The church was only completed and dedicated last September, another building which occupied the site having been destroyed by fire a few months before. Andrew Carnegie had presented the church with a fine organ, which was destroyed in the first fire. For the new building he paid one-half of the cost of a new organ, which was installed at an expense of several thousand dollars. The instrument was burned. The loss on the building and contents was about $45,000, with insurance of $40,000. Amateur cracksmen are supposed to be responsible for the robbery and fire.

Senate Confirms Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 20.—The senate today confirmed the following nominations of postmasters: Ohio, George C. Watson, New Concord; William W. Reed, Kent; John Campbell, Warren; Thomas E. Dunnington, Malta; George E. Reed, Prairie Depot; Orrin W. Curtis, Swanton. Pennsylvania, Eli D. Robinson, Butler. West Virginia, Ellis L. Cassell, Eckman.

English Courts Protect Magic Foot Drafts.

Protection of an American product by the English courts against infringement by Englishmen is accorded only upon absolute proof that the product is genuine and deserves such protection.

The recent perpetual injunction issued in Justice Buckley's court, London, England, against a company which offered for sale an imitation of the celebrated Magic Foot Drafts, the great Michigan external cure for Rheumatism, which is now sold all over the world, is the only case of its kind on record, and demonstrates the absolute fairness and impartiality of the English law.

The demand for Magic Foot Drafts in England became so great that an attempt was made to imitate this great discovery, but the result was only a spurious counterfeit, for the peculiar virtue of the genuine rests in a secret formula which has not yet been successfully duplicated either in this country or abroad, in spite of the numerous attempts. This imitation was suppressed in Great Britain by Justice Buckley, thus protecting the people against fraudulent imitations likely to be injurious. Magic Foot Drafts (the genuine) are made only in Jackson, Michigan, and London, England, by the Magic Foot Draft Company, and are sent free on approval—that is, you don't pay a cent until satisfied—then you send a dollar. If not satisfied you pay nothing. It is needless to say that the makers could not follow this plan if the Drafts didn't cure.

TIME TO ADJUST RATE QUESTION

Secretary of Internal Affairs Says the Problem Is Easy of Solution.

REVIEWED IN ANNUAL REPORT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU.
HARRISBURG, PA., Jan. 20.

"The times are ripe for congress and the state legislature to correct the evils which exist both with reference to transportation and also with reference to the legislation by which supervision is attempted," says Maj. Isaac B. Brown, secretary of internal affairs and chief of the state bureau of railways, in discussing the question of federal and state supervision of transportation corporations, in his latest annual report.

Secretary Brown has given many years of study to this question and in his opinion to effect these enactments it is necessary that proper regard should be had, not only for the passenger and the shipper and the commercial welfare of the United States, but as well for the great transportation interests which have been such important figures in making this the greatest commercial nation on earth.

He says that there is necessity for additional legislation by congress and an assimilation of the laws relating to supervision in the several states of the Union, but that the American people are opposed to radical legislation that would in any way cripple financially the common carrier corporations, whose prosperous existence is necessary to enable the nation to move forward to a still higher degree of prosperity.

Problem Easy of Solution.

"That uniform rates should be established there can be no question," continues Secretary Brown. "Neither can there be any question as to what uniform rates are. This is the most important feature of the whole transportation problem, and yet it is easy of solution. Any individual, firm or corporation engaged in any business in which transportation must be bought should feel sure that every other individual, firm or corporation in the same line of business desiring like transportation service must pay for it the same price. This is so essential to insure fairness in the commercial world that it, too, is not susceptible to any serious contention. It would seem that conservative thought leads to these conclusions:

First—That the consolidation and merger of common carrier corporations be not only permitted but encouraged.

Second—That the railway managers be not only permitted but encouraged to confer with each other with reference to the establishment of uniform and reasonable rates of transportation.

Third—That the interstate commerce commission be clothed with power to hear and determine compiaints against rates which may be challenged under such rules of procedure as may be adopted to secure injustice.

Economy in Railroad Mergers.

And when the interstate commerce commission shall have passed upon the equity of a rate challenged, that its findings shall be conclusive, unless there is an appeal from its determination to the federal courts, which courts shall have final jurisdiction over the matters at issue.

"When congress," concludes Maj. Brown, "has passed legislation relative to the establishemnt of uniform and reasonable rates, as suggested, and provided for reasonable and conservative supervision of interstate common carriers, it can afford to pass laws encouraging consolidations and mergers as a means of making it possible for the common carriers to offer still better facilities and greater conveniences for transportation without increasing rates and, indeed, there are grounds for believing that it would then be possible that a reduction of rates might follow on account of economies which could be introduced as a result of railway consolidations."

WILL HOLD EXAMINATION.

Representative Porter Has Received a Large Number of Applicants for West Point Vacancy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—Representative H. K. Porter of Pittsburgh has authorized an examination for appointment as cadet at West Point from his district. It will be held on January 30, in the Margaretta Street school and will be conducted by Prof. Rynearson and Prof. J. P. Stephens. There are a large number of applicants for this appointment and Mr. Porter has no fear but that he will be able to fill the vacancy, which has existed since his term as congressman began.

The publication recently that he had been unaeble to find an eligible boy for the place brought him nearly 200 applications, but a large number of them were from persons outside his district.

HOUSE PASSED THE ARMY BILL

Retired Officers Above a Major Cannot Receive Pay for Militia Service.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The house of representatives today passed the army appropriation bill after voting by a large majority to incorporate in it an amendment providing that hereafter retired army officers assigned to the militia of the several states shall not receive any pay or allowances additional to their pay as retired officers where such pay and allowances exceed those of a major.

The statehood bill and the fur seal indemnity bill again divided the attention of the senate today and both again went over without action.

Messrs. Foraker and Gorman having declined to act as tellers in the canvass of the presidential vote, President Pro Tem Frye announced the selection in their stead of Messrs. Burrows and Bailey.

The president today sent to the senate the nomination of Alexander V. Brodie of Arizona to be assistant chief of the record and pension office, with rank of major. Mr. Brodie is now governor of Arizona. His term as governor does not expire until July 1, 1906.

Every time the name of your goods is mentioned by word of mouth, or in print, your capital is increased.

Suppose, for example, you make hats. Every time your name is mentioned in connection with the word hat it is an advertisement for you.

It strengthens the grip of your product upon the public mind, helps increase its sale, and therefore increases the cash value of your business.

This situation cannot be brought about by schemes of any kind. The first essential is that you make a good hat. The second that you advertise it in the publications read by people likely to desire the sort of hat you make. The moment you do this you commence to build upon the right foundation, and if you keep it up the time will come when, even if your factories and everything else you possessed were wiped out of existence, your name in connection with the word hat would be worth a great fortune in itself. Isn't this the sort of an asset you want?

Any article which the American people should use may be profitably advertised in The Saturday Evening Post, and there is no quicker or surer way to popularize it. Nothing of a doubtful nature has ever been admitted to its columns. Seven hundred thousand families who read The Post every week know that they can depend upon the statements of The Post's advertisers. Get the trade name of your product firmly impressed upon these people and they will buy your goods.

BURGLARS' WORK OUTWITS POLICE

While Officers Search a House a Butcher Shop Is Robbed in Another Street.

USE AMMONIA GUN AND PISTOL

With an ammonia gun in one hand and a revolver in the other, a desperate robber entered the butcher shop of Louis Schnuth, at 66 Washington avenue, Allentown, at 8:45 o'clock last night, and robbed the place. The robber was quick in his work, but he chanced to meet with a locked door, and as a result of his eagerness to get out of the place and a panic among the people in the house, a tragedy was narrowly averted.

Schnuth and his family were sitting in the diningroom in the rear of the store when the electric bell connected with the shop door rang. Schnuth went into the shop and walked behind the counter to wait on a man who had come in, thinking he was a customer. Without warning the burglar raised his hand and Schnuth received the full contents of an ammonia gun in the face.

Schnuth ran to the rear of the store to call for help, as several young men were sitting in the diningroom with Mrs. Schnuth. When the proprietor started for the door the burglar ran behind the counter and, opening the cash register, grabbed up about $40 in bills. The counter is so arranged that the front portion runs at right angles with the rear part.

Stopped by a Gun.

The burglar, in his hurry to get out, tried a door in the back of the shop, but found it locked. At almost the same time Christopher Michel, who boards in the house and was in an upstairs room, heard Schnuth's cries for help and started to rush down the stairs leading to the shop. The robber was at the bottom, and, on seeing Michel, ordered him back at the point of his revolver.

When Michel disappeared up the stairs the burglar tried another door which led into the sitting room, and there he saw the young men and Mrs. Schnuth. He turned and started out through the shop for the front door. Outside he was met by a big crowd, attracted by the cries from within the house. Michel, after going up stairs, ran down the steps leading to the private entrance, which is beside the shop door. Albert Schnuth, a son of the proprietor, also managed to get around to the front of the house by the time the burglar came out of the shop. With Michel and several others, he ran after the burglar, who, fearing he was about to be captured, turned and fired at young Schnuth. Roscoe Jones pursued the man so closely that he turned and also fired a shot at him.

The Crowd Sought Shelter.

Neither of the young men was hurt, but the shots showed the desperate straits of the burglar and the crowd, which had followed him to Walter avenue, quickly sought shelter in a pool room and several stores.

Schnuth was attended by Dr. Black, who stated that the liquid shot into the butcher's face was pure ammonia and would have blinded him if it had touched his eyes. Schnuth is suffering from severe burns about the mouth, chin and on the tongue. After the robber escaped Schnuth went to a hardware store next to his shop and purchased a big revolver. Schnuth said he never kept a revolver about his house because he had a big Newfoundland dog, which last night was in the back yard and had the burglar succeeded in opening the first door he tried he would have been torn to pieces by the dog.

While the burglar was doing his work at Schnuth's and excitement was running high in Washington avenue, the police were at the home of Daniel Gallagher searching for three men who were reported to have tried to break into Gallagher's home in the Bailey farm plan, near Washington and Beltzhoover avenues.

May Be Work of a Gang.

As the alarm of burglars came from the Gallagher house shortly before Schnuth's place was robbed, the police believe that a gang is at work. Schnuth describes the man who robbed him as about 40 years old, weight about 170 and about 5 feet 10 inches tall. He also wore a dark mustache. Schnuth stated that the cash register contained about $65, but aside from the bills taken, the rest was in silver and most of it was in quarters. Several persons, after hearing the description of the robber, said they saw him go up Washington avenue with three men and the latter waited across the street while the robber went into the shop.

At Gallagher's house the police found that nothing had been taken, but the windows and doors showed that some one had attempted to get in. Gallagher recently moved into the house, a new one, and has not yet arranged his furniture.

MRS. AUSTIN DESTITUTE.

Aged McKees Rocks Woman Who Has Claim for $275,000 to Be Assisted.

Because she is destitute and unable to prosecute her claim for $276,000, which she says her husband's mine is worth, a benefit ball has been arranged for Mrs. Anna A. Austin of McKees Rocks by members of the St. Vincent de Paul society of the St. Francis De Sales Catholic church, McKees Rocks. Mrs. Austin's husband went to Montana years ago and secured some mines, for which an offer of $276,000 has been made. C. H. Lithgow of Spokane, Wash., was searching for the heirs of Mr. Austin several months ago.

Mrs. Austin, who is more than 80 years old, is unable, both physically and financially, to prosecute her claim to her share of the mine. She has been totally blind for 20 years and suffers so severly from asthma that she cannot leave her chair. The benefit will be in the form of a reception and musicale, and will be held in the McKees Rocks Lyceum. Mrs. Austin lives at 316 Island avenue, McKees Rocks.

He had him recloved to the South Side hospital. Several hours later Raletz called at the hospital and was locked up in the South Side station house pending an investigation. Kortor says he was drunk and cannot tell how he was wounded.

CLUES ARE SECURED AT LANCE HOME

Two of Aged Trio Are Scared from Farm by Three Young Ladies.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER, Jan. 20.—Detectives B. Lazarus and James McCain visited the Lance home today and secured clues which indicate who committed the first robbery and also an accomplice. Sarah and James Lance, who were alone today, Abram not having returned from Beaver, became scared when they saw "three men with long coats" approaching and fled to a neighbor's. The visitors proved to have been three young women, who visited the place through curiosity. The aged pair heard Charles Obney, their guard, who had gone some distance to feed the cattle, shooting at quails and thought he had been killed by robbers. Sarah says she and her brothers will move to Clinton, a village eight miles away, in Allegheny county, in a week or two.

SHANNOPIN, Jan. 20.—Abram Lance showed a letter today written by an unknown person and received the day before the killing of Harris, advising him to buy dogs for defense, instead of hiring guards. A whip, which was left by one of the robbers last October, may furnish an important clue. It bears the stamp of an Oakdale dealer.

MISSING LAWYER RETURNS.

Wife Had Collected $13,000 Insurance on His Life, Which She Has Given Back Under Agreement.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—Max Josephs, a lawyer, who mysteriously disappeared from Brooklyn three years ago, and for whom the police of this country and Europe searched in vain, has returned in perfect health, and will resume the practice of law. For a long time it was thought he had been murdered.

More than a year after Josephs' disappearance, his wife collected $13,000 insurance on his life, after giving bonds to return the money if he was found alive. The insurance money has been returned by Mrs. Josephs, and she is said to be preparing to bring an action for divorce in another state.

WILL VISIT BAKERIES AND SOME RESTAURANTS

Investigation Will Be Extended to Other Plants as Soon as Present Work Is Finished.

Superintendent G. Wash Moore of the bureau of health has decided to extend the sweatshop investigations to bakeries and restaurants, as soon as he has completed the work in the cigar factories. This work is now progressing nicely and a vast amount of good has already been accomplished.

In addition to the restaurants and bakeries it is proposed to look after the clothing factories and particularly the homes where clothing is made. There are a number of trousers factories in Pittsburgh and most of this work is done at the homes of sewing girls, who live out the Brownsville road. It is proposed to visit each home and determine if the conditions are within the requirements of the law.

Forty cigar shops and factories were visited Thursday. The worst place found was at 1531 Rose street. Twelve people were working in the room. There was no means of ventilation whatever and the room was so poorly lighted it was necessary to burn oil lamps. Orders were issued at once to put the place in a healthful condition. Yesterday the investigation was going on in the Eleventh and Thirteenth wards. Most of the places visited now are within the bounds of the law, as the warning sent out has resulted in a general improvement.

WOMAN SHOT BY NEPHEW.

Victim Is Unconscious and Boy Claims It Was an Accident.

Mrs. Carrie Rotunno, aged 22, was shot and probably fatally injured by her 13-year-old nephew at her home, Everett and Omera streets, East End, at 8 o'clock last evening. The boy claims the shooting was an accident. The woman is unconscious.

Robert Rotunno, the nephew, stated at the East End police station that he had picked the revolver up in the kitchen and was pulling the trigger. It snapped several times and he thought it was not loaded. Suddenly there was a sharp report and the woman fell with a bullet through her brain. His father and uncle, Mrs. Rotunno's husband, sent for a physician. Drs. Adams and Robinson answered and sent the woman to the East End Charity hospital.

JEWISH CITIZENS DEMAND REMOVAL OF LIBRARIAN

Ground of Complaint Is That He Has Excluded Their Race from Fashionable Lake Placid Club.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Through Chancellor Whitelaw Reid a petition has been presented to the regents of the University of the State of New York asking for the removal of Melvil Dewey, state librarian.

The petition, which is signed by Louis Marshall, Jacob H. Schiff, Adolph Lewisohn, Daniel Guggenheimer, Isidor Straus, Henry R. Ickelheimer, Nathan Bijur, Cyrus L. Sulzberger, Edgar J. Nathan, Adolph S. Ochs and Abraham Abraham, demands the removal of Mr. Dewey on the ground that, as president of the Lake Placid Company, he has enforced rules rigidly excluding Jews from the Lake Placid club, which is one of the departments of the Lake Placid Company.

After reciting that there are in this state about 70,000 Jews, a large number of whom are taxpayers contributing their quota to the salaries of public officials, including the state librarian, the petitioners say:

They feel, therefore, they have a right to demand that one, who as a public servant represents all the people of the state, of whom they are a part, so long as he remains such servant and receives compensation from the state treasury under the sanction of your honorable body, shall not, with impunity, pander to the lowest prejudices of which man is capable."

The petition was referred to the library committee for investigation.

WALLACE'S MEN ACTED PROMPTLY

Pittsburgh Officials Would Not Make a Raid Under Cover, but in the Open.

HALL IS HELD FOR COURT

Walter Hall, charged with being the proprietor of the Central club, 1701 Center avenue, which was raided yesterday morning as a gambling house, was held for court yesterday afternoon by Magistrate Stewart in $1,000 bail. District Attorney Stewart will push the case against Hall as rapidly as possible, so he can be indicted at the next sitting of the grand jury. R. P. Marshall is Hall's attorney.

Director Moore was victimized by Hall. Some time ago two members of the Central club went to Moore and Superintendent Wallace and said they had a social organization, which was duly chartered, and wanted to know if it would be a violation for the members to play cards among themselves.

The officials told them they could play cards provided they confined the game to members, but a gambling house would not be permitted to open in the city. The men assured Moore and Wallace the members would only indulge in a "penny ante" game at the most, but they did not care to do so if the police objected. Moore and Wallace were impressed with the frankness of the men and assured them the members could have a social game.

Detectives Played in the Games.

While the district attorney was making his graft investigation of Allegheny and Pittsburgh, he learned a gambling house was being operated under the name of the Central club. His detectives gained entrance to the place and took chances at the roulette and crap games.

On Thursday Assistant District Attorney Robb went to Director Moore and Superintendent Wallace and informed them the Central club was being operated as a gambling house. Moore and Wallace explained to Robb what they knew about it and Mr. Robb asked them to have the place closed quietly, as the district attorney did not care to reflect on the local police force. Moore and Wallace would not entertain the idea of closing the place quietly, but insisted it would be raided without any ceremony. They were indignant to think they had been taken in.

The raid was conducted by Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide and his officers. Roulette and crap layouts valued at $1,500 were found and 12 men were captured.

Detective Kelly had six of these visitors at the hearing yesterday as witnesses. Magistrate Stewart refused to permit them to testify, as there were charges against them.

Charge Had to Stand.

Assistant District Attorney Grimes represented the district attorney's office, and he had offered to withdraw the charge against Charles L. Pfeiffer, but Magistrate Stewart refused to allow it. Pfeiffer agreed to testify, and said he was paid $15 a week as janitor of the club. He said Hall did not pay him, but refused to tell who did. Magistrate Stewart told Pfeiffer that he was not required to divulge the name of his employer nor to incriminate himself.

Mr. Grimes called a witness known as Brown. The latter admitted that was not his name. Mr. Grimes asked him to give his correct name, but the witness refused to do so. He agreed to tell Mr. Grimes in private, his objection being that he was a business man and did not care to get his name in the papers. Attorney Rody P. Marshall appeared for the defendant.

Mayor Hays was pleased yesterday at the result of the raid, and gratified to learn that the police department was free from odium. He said:

"The moment I discover a policeman or police official taking a dollar from women in disorderly houses or proprietors of gambling houses for the purpose of protecting them, he will be discharged, and what is more, information will be made against him for bribery and he will be prosecuted. Such business is disgusting and low."

Conference on Allegheny Graft.

Attorney John Marron returned yesterday from Uniontown and had a long talk in the morning with District Attorney Stewart on the Allegheny graft cases. The work for the coming week was outlined but as Saturday is a short day in court it was decided to postpone action until Monday. John C. Haymaker will be home then and more informations against persons charged with grafting, or with other violations of the law, will be made. There are a large number of informations already prepared and locked in Mr. Marron's safe. These will be brought out early in the week and the work of carrying on the crusade will proceed.

The district attorney will be represented today at the hearings of a number of Allegheny women at Alderman Toole's office, by Mr. Marron. The latter has his testimony prepared in each case and it is likely each defendant who goes into a hearing will be held for court. The cases will all be acted upon by the present grand jury.

The hearing of Superintendent M. H. Campbell of the Allegheny police that was to have been held yesterday, was postponed until Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The change was made at the request of Mr. Marron, who was busily engaged with other matters during yesterday afternoon.

Lib Stoner of 214 East Robinson street, Allegheny, was arrested yesterday. She secured bail after remaining in Alderman Toole's office for some time. J. Tobias subscribed to her bond.

MOET & CHANDON CHAMPAGNE

Leads All Other Wines.

What the New York World, January 1, 1905, has to say:

Speaking of the wonderful strides in four years, from 481,776 bottles in 1900 to over 1,324,000 bottle in 1904 of the celebrated brand of Moet & Chandon Champagne, the New York World remarks:

"It is a superb wine, bon vivants, gourmets, poets have sung its praises; careful chemists have scrupulously examined it and found it not only free from deleterious elements, but full of all the qualities that go to make a perfect Champagne. In body, in bouquet, in every quality wherein a wine can excel, it does excel."

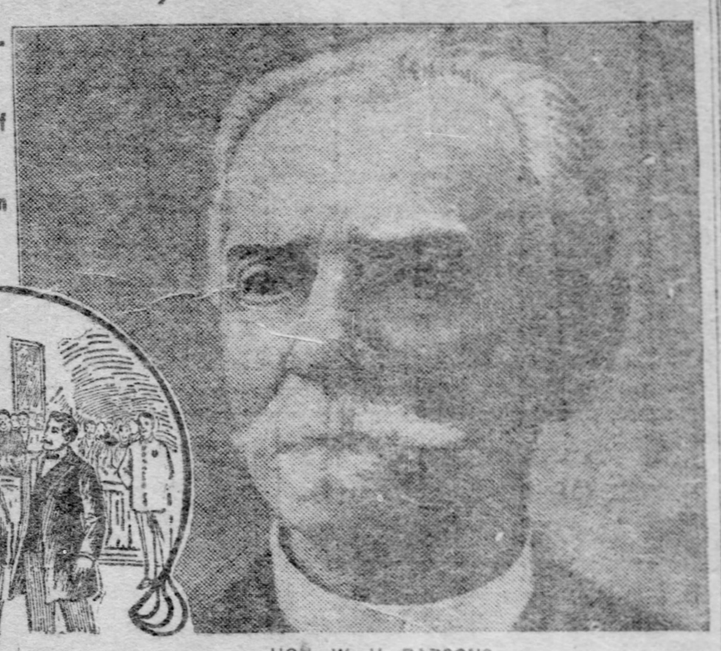
JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT.

Was Alarmingly Afflicted With La Grippe. Cured by Pe-ru-na.

The Grip is Properly Termed Epidemic Catarrh.

As Pe-ru-na Cures Every Form of Catarrh,

It Cures More Cases of Grip Than All Other Remedies Combined.



HON. W. H. PARSONS.

W. H. Parsons is Ex-State Senator and Ex-Special Judge of the Supreme Court of Texas, and was also Brigadier-General in Confederate Army. In a recent letter from 925 H street, N. W., Washington, D. C., this prominent gentleman says:

"Upon the recommendation of personal friends and many strong testimonials as to the efficacy of Peruna in the treatment of the numerous symptoms of the grippe with which I have been afflicted for four months past, I have been induced to undergo a treatment with this justly celebrated formula. I feel a decided change for the better after using it only one week.

"It is especially good in toning up the stomach and has had a decided effect upon my appetite. I therefore feel much encouraged that I am on the road to complete restoration.

"My numerous friends in Texas, where I have had the honor to command a brigade of her Veteran Cavalry in a four years' war, may accept this voluntary testimonial to the merits of Peruna as a sense of obligation on my part for its wonderful efficacy."

There is no remedy in the world that meets the conditions produced by the grip better than Peruna.

Peruna strengthens as it renovates, soothes while it stimulates, heals as it expurgates.

Peruna is not a purgative, or cathartic or sedative or stimulant, nor a vegetable or mineral poison.

It reaches the source of all diseases of the mucous membranes by its action on the vaso-motor system of nerves.

After-Effects of the Grip.

Every person who has had la grippe during the last year should take a course of Peruna. No one need expect perfect recovery unless they do.

The grip has produced catarrhal inflammation of the whole mucous membrane, and good health is impossible until these are restored to a normal condition. This Peruna will do.

A great many remedies have been suggested for this condition from time to time, but Peruna is the only remedy that has any substantial value in these cases.

It has never failed to give satisfaction during forty years' experience and still occupies the unique position of being the leading (if not the only) specific remedy for the after-effects of la grippe.

No Time Like the Present.

If you are suffering from the after-effects of la grippe—if you have become discouraged in your attempts to cure yourself with other treatments, take a bottle of Peruna now.

A bottle of Peruna taken during the beginning of the disease is worth more than a dozen bottles after the trouble has become deep-seated.

Pe-ru-na Cured When All Else Had Failed.

Miss Eugenie Lafortune of 110 Berrie street, Montreal, Can., writes:

"Peruna cured me of a severe case of la grippe when nothing else had any effect on me. Five bottles did the work and they were worth hundreds of dollars for the comfort and health restored to me. I therefore feel that the least I can do is to gratefully acknowledge its merits."

Cured La Grippe in Ten Days By Aid of Pe-ru-na.

Mr. M. M. Bounds, Portalis, New Mex., writes:

"Two years ago I cured myself of a bad case of la grippe in ten days by the use of your Peruna.

"We thank you for all your kindness, and will ever remember your medicine. My wife joins me in sending our best wishes for your success in healing the sick."

A reward of $10,000 has been deposited in the Market Exchange Bank, Columbus, Ohio, as a guarantee that the above testimonials are genuine; that we hold in our possession authentic letters certifying to the same. AN ORDINANCE—Authorizing the submission to a vote of the electors of the city of Allegheny the question of increasing the bonded indebtedness of the city of Allegheny by the amount of four hundred twenty thousand ($420,000.00) dollars for the purpose of paying contractors' claims, judgments and assessments against the city for damages and expenses in the improvement of streets and the construction of sewers, therefore.

FACTIONS CARRY UP THEIR FIGHT

Twenty-First Ward Squabble Gets Into the Orphans Central Committee.

OPPOSING FUSION TICKETS

The factional fight among the Orphans of the Twenty-first ward will find its way into the central committee of the party, which meets next Monday night in the office of Controller Larkin, city hall. One faction has fused with the Citizens and Democrats and the other faction with the Republicans.

Dr. F. C. Colhouer of the Citizens-Democratic wing stated yesterday his faction would file its ward ticket with the central committee and the stalwart faction, which has joined forces with the Republicans against the payroll, will also file its papers with the central committee for approval, as is the procedure.

It will then be up to the central committee, of which Controller Larkin and W. H. Stevenson are the leaders, to decide whether the party shall stand by the administration or abide by the first agreement entered into with the Republicans in the Twenty-first ward. It is believed that the controller will use all his persuasion in favor of the Citizens, but it is doubtful if he can carry a majority of the central committee with him. If the controller fails in this, it may arouse resentment against him by the administration, which looks to Mr. Larkin to sway the Orphan interests. The Twenty-first ward case is important because the ward casts a large vote and has a large payroll membership.

The Republican committee of Braddock last night certified to the ticket for the spring election. There will be a lively fight for council between the Republicans and the so-called-Independent party. The Independents have set up candidates for council in all of the four wards of Braddock, picking out strong timber.

The Republican candidates are: J. J. McCarthy, First ward; John A. Loew, Second ward; Thomas Cosgrove and C. E. F. Gray, Third ward; and Richard Selby, Fourth ward. All, with the exception of Selby, are members in council. The Independent candidates are: John Lightner, First ward; Robert W. Russell, Second ward; ex-Burgess James A. Russell and Louis Drexler, Third ward, and George Soleg, Fourth ward.

The Allegheny War Veterans' association last night indorsed the candidacy of John I. Miller for common council in the Second ward, Allegheny.

John G. Schirmer, George Rath, William Zoller, Louis Seethaler and Robert Beck filed affidavits in court claiming exclusive right to the title of Orphans party in the Third ward, Allegheny.

The Citizens-Democrats of the Eighteenth ward held a meeting last night in the McCandless school building and nominated James Gallagher for school director to fill the vacancy on the ward ticket caused by John Jahn's refusal to run.

The Young Men's Republican club and the Citizens of the Twenty-eighth ward last night nominated a ward ticket and indorsed Larkin for controller. The ticket is as follows: School directors, Edward Winters, John Trichler and Edward Wigman; constable, Joseph Diebold, and assessor, Peter Meyers.

THE WEEK'S RECITALS.

With Exception of One Additional Set They Terminate Lemare's Contract.

The free organ recitals this Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon are the last set but one Edwin H. Lemare will give in Pittsburgh, his contract with Carnegie library trustees ending with the last Sunday in January. Mr. Lemare's program for this evening contains two novelties, the most important being his own transcription of Tschaikowsky's overture fantasie, "Romeo and Juliet." The other novelty is a nocturne by Edward C. Bairstow, an English organist. The program in full is as follows: Prelude and fugue, "St. Ann's," Bach; madrigal, Lemare; nocturne, (first time at these recitals), Bairstow; Waldweben, "Siegfried," Wagner. Intermission of five minutes. Improvisitation; overture, "Romeo et Juliette" (first time at these recitals), Tschaikowsky.

FAILED TO IDENTIFY PIN.

Mother of Charles L. Tucker Weakened His Defense When She Took Stand in Page Murder Trial.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Jan. 20.—At the murder trial of Charles L. Tucker today Mrs. Alfred Tucker, the prisoner's mother, failed to identify as the property of her son a stickpin which the prosecution claims was stolen from the Page home after Mabel Page was murdered.

Mrs. Tucker was handed two stickpins by counsel for the defense and was asked if she could identify either of them as the property of her son. One of the pins was what has been known as the Page pin, and was found in Tucker's pocket after his arrest. The other pin was one introduced into the case by the defense. Mrs. Tucker handing her questioner the pin purchased after the murder, said she thought it was the property of her son.

HALF THE VOTES SPURIOUS.

So Experts Report Who Opened Denver Ballot Boxes Turned Over to Them by Contest Committee.

DENVER, Jan. 20.—When the joint legislative committee appointed to hear the Peabody-Adams gubernatorial contest met this afternoon, the report of the experts who examined the Denver ballot boxes turned over to them last night was made. According to the testimony of the experts, 449 out of the 904 ballots found in the boxes were spurious.

The grand jury which has for two months been investigating election frauds in Pueblo county, reported to the court today and was discharged. One hundred new indictments were returned.

LAST NIGHT'S CONCERT NOTABLE IN MANY WAYS

First Hearing of a Pittsburgher's Grand Opera—Soloists Did Wonderful Work.

A program of the finest music of the class called "popular," the first performance of an important composition of a well-known Pittsburgh musician; two soloists, each a past master of his chosen instrument; an enthusiastic orchestra in its best and happiest mood for playing and an enthusiastic audience of unusual size. In these few phrases the Pittsburgh orchestra concert of last evening is epitomized.

Gratifying in every way was the first performance of Arthur Nevin's new Indian opera "Poia," two movements of which were given, enough to let the beauty and entire originality of the work be recognized. Mr. Nevin has taken the native Indian songs as themes, and, without spoiling in any way their character, has wrought upon them a work of strong individuality and great melodic charm. The movements played were "Poia's Entrance Song" and "Natoya's Flower

Fritz Kreisler.

Violin Soloist Who Thrilled His Audience at Last Night's Orchestra Concert.

Song." The audience set a warm seal of approval on the opera, and Mr. Nevin was called from his place in the audience to receive the applause due him, although it took considerable urging to cause him to yield to the demand for this public demonstration.

Fritz Kreisler's playing of the Bach concerto No. 2, E major, was awaited with deep interest. Kreisler is above all things an emotionalist of the highest type. Few can give better than he the sensation of pure and abstract musical beauty, and he is at all times gratifyingly free of mereticious display. Faultless in technique, and absolutely sincere, there is a fire and abandon in his playing which is not in accord, logically speaking, with the calculated, though lofty, music of Bach. Yet for once Bach was given a reading of the most poignant tenderness and appealing charm. It was a sensational piece of work, considered artistically. Mr. Walter E. Hall played the organ part in the arrangement of this concerto in his usual faultless manner.

In the second half of the program Mr. Kreisler played a seventeenth century French "Chanson," a study a sordini, in which the muted instrument brought forth a tone impressively beautiful and rich. Variations on a Corelli theme, arranged by Tartini, gave Mr. Kreisler a chance to display his powers as a technician. Mr. Kreisler was recalled many times.

Of the other soloists, Wenzel Jiskra, the first double bass player of the orchestra, there is so much to be said that it seems impossible to tell fully of his great triumph as a soloists with that well-nigh impossible solo instrument. Mr. Jiskra revealed unheard of possibilities in his great "fiddle," and brought out tones which rivalled the "cello in sweetness and resonance. He has mastered all the difficulties of technique, and his concert piece, by Simandl, his teacher, was one of the features of this great concert. Mr. Bernthaler gave Mr. Jiskra a sympathetic and sustaining piano accompaniment.

The purely orchestral numbers beside Mr. Nevin's were Auber's overture to "La Muette de Portici;" Bizet's "Suite Parisienne," and the brilliant and dashing Rubenstein "Valse Caprice," orchestrated by Mueller-Berghaus.

The same program will be repeated at the same place, Carnegie Music hall, at 2:15 o'clock this afternoon. Only four more sets of concerts remain of this season's series.

GOVERNMENT TO INSPECT MIDVALE STEEL PLANT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—A board with Capt. A. R. Couden as its chairman has been ordered to inspect the plant of the Midvale Steel Company and to report on its capacity to fill the armor plate contract it now holds with the government and its future capabilities. The award of armor for several new warships for which the Midvale company recently made the lowest bids, against which the Carnegie and Bethlehem armor companies are making a strong fight, will not be decided until this board reports.

Strike of Miners Settled.

SLIPPERY ROCK, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—Following a conference last night between Fred Stover, deputy national organizer for the United Mine Workers, and General Manager Filer of the Sharon Coal & Limestone Company, the strike at the company's mines near here has been settled.

B. & O. May Build Branch.

WASHINGTON, PA., Jan. 20.—(Special.)—It is rumored that the Baltimore & Ohio company will, during the present year, build the O. & B. short line through from the Connellsville region to Washington, striking the Baltimore & Ohio at Zediker, east of here. Cutoff lines will be run into the new coal fields.

INSANITY SAVES RUSSELL'S NECK

Physician Testifies He Was an Escaped Lunatic When He Killed Wasmuth.

FORTUNE TELLERS ARE LUCKY

"Not guilty by reason of insanity at the time he committed the deed," was the jury's verdict in the case of Thomas O. Russell, charged with the murder of John Wasmuth. The court will dispose of the defendant, and Judge Collier said he will have to be sent to an insane institution. The dead man was beaten over the head with a 10-foot piece of gas pipe.

The only witnesses called for the defense were four physicians, and all testified that Russell was mentally deranged. Dr. H. R. Hutchison of the Dixmont asylum said the prisoner had been taken to that institution in the spring of 1895 and that later he was transferred to the Weinersville Institute for the Chronic Insane of the state at South Mountain, Pa.

Dr. Samuel S. Hill, superintendent of the Wernersville institute testified that Russell had been admitted to that place in October, 1895. The witness said the prisoner had attempted to escape at different times and finally succeeded in getting away in November, 1896. From that time on the witness said Russel had not been heard of. Dr. Hill said the defendant was mentally unbalanced and at times violent.

Dr. Joseph Z. Dickson, of the Passavant hospital, said he had examined the prisoner in the jail and that he was undoubtedly insane. The same testimony was given by Dr. A. V. Chessrown, the jail physician.

In the morning the commonwealth presented several witnesses. Miss Bertie Wray, a niece of Miss Walker, the owner of the farm where Wasmuth worked, said she met Russell the afternoon of the murder. She said he remarked that he would make a change in her family.

Fortune Tellers Are Warned.

Judge Brown, in criminal court suspended sentence on four women charged with fortune telling, but warned them that if again brought into court they would be sentenced on the charges to which they pleaded guilty. The women are Georgia Clark, 1642 Penn avenue; E. J. Demarest, 300 Anderson street, Mary Leicester, 552 Smithfield street, and Mary Webb, 826 East Lacock street.

G. F. Klimmel was sentenced to 60 days in jail for larceny; Peter Garver was given 60 days to the workhouse for assault, and sentence was suspended on Albert Hoomatka who pleaded guilty to stealing cameras.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed by Ernest A. Riedel, of Richland township. He gives his debts as $3,537 05 and assets as $1,203 54.

The provisions of an ancient statute of Westminster, an old English law, was applied by Judge Miller of orphans court to the distribution of the estate of James Jarvis, deceased, which disinherits his widow. The statute provides that if a wife willingly leaves her husband and goes away she shall be barred forever of her dower right. Jarvis died in 1892 and, under the testimony adduced in court, his wife left him to live with one Thomas Shenton several years before. Subsequently they went to Europe and no word has since been received from them. The only other heir to the estate is a son, George T. Jarvis, and when the estate came up for distribution, the wife not being present, her share, $120, was suspended. She has never claimed the amount, and as nearly 10 years have passed the court was petitioned to decree the money to be paid the son.

The Allegheny County Light Company entered four suits in trespass to recover damages from the defendants for alleged use of electricity obtained through improper methods. A. L. Gvalsosky, of Beaver avenue, Allegheny, is sued for $500; H. Haguler, of 2824 Penn avenue, $1,500; Beng Brothers, of Braddock, $2,500; George Veroskey, of Braddock, $5,000. In the first three cases it is alleged the defendants secured electricity without its first passing through the meters, and in Veroskey's case he was using 41 lamps while his contract called for but eight.

Wants the Note Assigned.

Mary West filed a suit in equity against Joseph R. Paul and S. W. Vandersall and the Homewood People's bank of which the two men are officers, asking that they be compelled to turn over to her certain promissory notes and carry out an agreement made. She alleges the bank holds a note of $2,200, drawn by West & Wilson, co-partners. She claims that she had an interest in a claim against the firm of West & Wilson and with others bid in their property at sheriff's sale, but that the bank filed exceptions to the sheriff's return. She alleges she entered into an agreement with the officers of the bank, conveying to them a deed for a certain piece of property, and they agreed to assign the note to her and withdraw the exceptions to the sheriff's return. She alleges they have failed to carry out their part of the agreement.

Nora Tuney, who on Thursday was granted the custody of her youngest child, which her husband had placed in Rosalia foundling asylum, petitioned court to allow her to remove the child from the state, as she wishes to go to her father's home in West Virginia. The court granted the petition providing, however, that the child be brought into the state on demand.

The grand jury convenes on Monday and for the remainder of the week such cases will be put on the trial list in which true bills are returned.

The testimony in the divorce suit of W. T. Jenning against Hester Jenning was filed. It shows that Mrs. Jennings left her husband in 1901 and has since been living in Pittsburgh and Duquesne with other men.

Executions filed: S. H. Lloyd vs. Rebecca M. Barton, $180 32; Thomas Hartman vs. Daniel Wack, $108 50; Susan Sober vs. estate of Zephaniah Burns, $786 40; Mary J. Jack vs. William Hamilton, $1 008; Joseph McIntyre vs. Ernest Riedel, $116; same vs. same, $41 80; W. S. B. Hays vs. J. M. Blake, $742 46.

Relief Fund Report.

The monthly report of the employes' relief fund of the Pennsylvania railroad lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie shows payments for December of $117,103 65, of which $43,531 40 was on account of death and $73,531 40 on account of disablement by sickness and accident. The payments thus far are stated to have amounted in the aggregate to $12,034,858 45.

The regular monthly meeting of the Oxford club of the South Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Wilkinsburg, will be held in the chapel of the church on Monday evening, January 23, at 7:45 o'clock. E. C. Bonnarjee of India will deliver a lecture on "Hindu Customs."

Operators Shoot Old Wells to Keep Up Their Production

Dullness prevails all through the lower southwest fields. Now and important strikes have no part in the developments in the various old and new districts. West of Mannington, in Marion county, it was expected that some new wells would be drilled in before next week. Operators are now pretty busy shooting the old wells in an effort to keep up their production. Trees & Benedum gave their Nos. 1 and 2 on the J. L. Holden farm their second dose of glycerin yesterday, but the result was not learned. Both should have responded as they have been very steady producers. In the Salem district the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its test on the Lloyd Randolph farm through the stray sand and found nothing but a little gas. It is now drilling to the Gordon. North of Sedalia, Doddridge county, the Carter Oil Company has a better producer in its No. 4 on the S. H. Garner farm than was indicated when first drilled through the sand. The well is producing 75 barrels a day, regularly.

In the Yellow Creek district, Calhoun county, several new producers of the average size have been completed. The Ann Oil Company has completed and shot its No. 3 on the David Matthews farm and has a good well. It placed 90 barrels to its credit the first 24 hours after it was shot. In the same district the South Penn has drilled its No. 3 on the Clark Camden farm through the Berea grit and has a 25-barrel producer. The Guaranty Oil Company has completed its No. 5 on the M. C. Richards farm and has a 80-barrel producer. The South Penn's Nos. 5 and 6 on the H. L. Jackson farm are producing 100 and 130 barrels, respectively.

In the Wallace district, Harrison county, the Long Fork Oil and Gas Company has shot its test on the James Ashcraft farm and it bridged. Its status as a producer will not be determined till it has been cleaned out. In the same district the South Penn has drilled its No. 53 on the Genine Robinson tract through and 30 feet into the state below the Gordon and will give it a shot.

In the Littleton district, Wetzel county, the Fisher Oil Company has drilled its No. 3 on the Elizabeth Anderson farm through the Gordon and has a duster. McDermott & Courtney have decided not to drill their test on the Enoch Anderson farm below the salt sand at present. A fair gas pressure was developed in the salt sand. In Bethelie district, Monongalia county, McDermott & Co. have completed their test on the Sol Myers farm in the Big Injun and have a gasser. It will not be drilled deeper.

On the Ohio side the Gordon sand well on the Longfellow farm, in the Muckburg field, in Washington county, is about the only topic discussed. Thursday evening the well was drilled about five feet deeper into the sand and during the night it dowsed about 35 barrels. Yesterday morning the well was flowing at intervals of about 30 minutes. It has been drilled about 14 feet into the sand and is understood that the owners will put it to pumping. The formation in which they stopped drilling was a dark sand, with traces of slate. There has been a very great demand for territory in that locality and it is understood that some pretty stiff bonus has been paid for some of the stuff.

In the Rays Run district, in the same county, the Associated Producers Company has completed its No. 5 on the M. Pool farm and has a show for a 15-barrel pumper in the Big Injun sand.

West of Empire, Jefferson county, the Cumberland Oil Company has completed a second test on the William Gladden farm and has a show for a 5 or 10-barrel pumper. This is 1,100 feet east of Jennings Bros.'s No. 3 on the M. M. Culp farm, which is still producing 24 barrels a day and is now the best producer in the Empire development.

At New Gallilee, Beaver county, the Beaver Clay Manufacturing Company has drilled in a test on its own property and has a light gasser in the Berea grit.

NIEDRINGHAUS' VOTE IS NOW BELOW COCKRELL'S

He Loses Another Supporter on Single Ballot Taken Yesterday—Gives Retort to Mr. Kerens.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

JEFFERSON, MO., Jan. 20.—After taking one ballot today without result for United States senator to succeed Francis M. Cockrell, the joint session adjourned. The ballot today was Niedringhaus 80, Cockrell 81, Kerens 9, Pettijohn 1.

Niedringhaus and Richard C. Kerens, who caused the bolt, met today. Kerens told Niedringhaus he claimed precedence for senatorial honors on account of his service to the party and his long years of waiting.

"I would be willing to give up a senatorship if I had your youth," said Kerens to Niedringhaus, adding he thought the caucus nominee could afford to wait. Mr. Niedringhaus smiled pleasantly as he retorted:

"I am practically United States senator from Missouri now, barring a little formality in the joint session."

Electric Railways Injure and Kill More Than Steam Roads

According to statistics just compiled the electric railways are rapidly overtaking the steam roads in respect to the number of personal injuries. In portions of the country where the electric railway mileage nearly approaches that of the steam roads the trolley lines show a large average of accidents, counting both killed and injured, and also show a larger number of passengers killed than the steam roads. When the electric roads get into the freight-carrying business extensively, and thus greatly increase the number of their employes exposed to accidents, the record of mortalities, as well as of non-fatal injuries, may be expected to show large gains.

Of 97,532,628 passengers carried in Massachusetts by steam roads, 74 were injured, or one in 1,318,009. There were 3,372 passengers injured on street railways out of 590,056,511 carried for every fatality, or one in 154,225. The Interstate commerce commission has issued a report on railroad accidents in the United States during the months of July, August and September, 1904, showing 228 passengers and 183 employes killed, and 2,184 passengers and 1,566 employes injured in train accidents. Other accidents to passengers and employes, not the result of collisions or other accidents, bring the aggregate casualties for the quarter up to 1,402 killed and 13,207 injured. There were 1,439 collisions and 1,521 derailments, the damage to cars, engines and roadway being $2,452,073.

May Remove Headquarters.

The Pennsylvania Company intends removing the offices of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh from Wellsville, O., to Cleveland. The arrangements for the transfer are now being made, and it is expected that by April 1 all the officials having headquarters at Wellsville will be removed to the Forest City. The object of the management in making the change is to centralize, as much as possible, the offices, and thus provide better facilities for conducting the operation and traffic affairs of the road.

Railroad Notes.

J. P. McCann, traveling freight agent of the Missouri Pacific, was in the city yesterday on business.

Fred T. Sankey, traveling passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, left last night for a two weeks' trip to New York and other eastern cities.

W. W. Revel, engineer on the Indianapolis division of the Panhandle for 31 years, will retire February 27 on the pension plan. He began service for the Indiana Central May 24, 1854.

PITCHER TAYLOR TELLS A PECULIAR TALE

TAYLOR AGAIN TELLS OF GAME

Says He and Beckley Were Drinking and Gambling the Night Before.

IN NO SHAPE TO PITCH

Jack Taylor, the pitcher under suspicion in the National league, has been doing some more talking about that game in this city which created so much comment. Here is what Taylor has to say about it:

"Beckley belongs to a Pittsburgh club, and every time he goes there a special session is held in his honor. I attended one with him the latter part of last July. We drank and gambled and did not get back to the hotel until the next day at noon. Jake lost at cards and so did I, but I more than evened up in a craps game and left $87 winner.

"'Slim,' the fellow Herrmann referred to, was introduced to me that night and went down town with us. We had a couple of hours' sleep and foolishly renewed drinking when we woke up. We stopped in a saloon on our way to the hotel, and 'Slim' said: 'Taylor, I'll bet $10 on you if you pitch today.' I told him I was not in shape to pitch for any man's money and hoped Nichols would not work me. Jake was as unfitted to play as I was. Both of us were ordered in the game and we lost, 5 to 2. They made seven hits off me, but I was wild, giving five bases on balls and hitting a couple of batsmen.

"I don't think I have lost over five games in Pittsburgh since I have been in the National league, and it is absurd to say that I ever sold a game there or anywhere else.

"Many roasts were handed to me from the stands, and I heard that fellow 'Slim' yell to me: 'No wonder you are wild, you slob, you were drunk last night!' All our players knew the condition we were in and Nichols must have been on, but he gave no reproof to me.

"When we reached the hotel we went to our room to get into our uniforms. I took a big bundle of money out of my pocket and threw it on the dresser. Shay grabbed it and I took it away from him, telling him there was $900 in the roll and named that sum as my winnings. Jake claimed to be $200 to the good. As I dressed Shay got the bunch of money and gave me the laugh when he found all the bills were of the $1 or $2 denomination, except the wrapper, which was a 10-spot. I suppose it was told that I had a small fortune when I left Pittsburgh and that it represented the amount paid me for throwing a game. I never had a dollar of that kind of money in my life. Why, I only had $10 or $12 when I left Pittsburgh. I lent $80 to Beckley to settle for the chips he had bought on credit. He returned it by check after we reached home."

WELL-ARRANGED BOUTS.

Local Boxers Will Meet in Six Round Contests Tonight.

The boxing show of the Business Men's club will take place tonight. The program will consist of five of the best arranged boxing contests that the management could secure. All the bouts will be for six rounds. Dick Moore, the local favorite, who scales in at 135 pounds, will be called on to meet a hard one in the person of Billy Conway of Turtle Creek. Moore has made quite a record in his last three contests, having won all of them in less than three rounds. Another favorite that made his debut at the club is Johnny Regan of the West End. He will appear in one of the contests tonight, and his opponent will be Louis Isaacs of Scho.

Dick Given of Homestead will meet Andy Apple of Brushton. Jack Rowe, the Soho favorite, will have a hard bout with Arthur Donahue. Rowe is a hard fellow to get at, but Donahue says he will be able to solve his style. Ed Givens, the colored fighter, who made such short work of Atkinson on last Monday night, will meet a man who is said to be even a harder hitter than himself, Jack Green, formerly of Cleveland. The first bout will be called at 8:30.

NEW TURF BODY.

Edward Corrigan Says It Will Be Organized at Hot Springs.

LEXINGTON, KY., Jan. 20.—The first definite statement from Edward Corrigan relative to the secession of tracks from the Western Jockey club and the formation of a new turf body in the west is contained in a signed dispatch to the Kentucky Farmer and Breeder late today. Corrigan says:

"A meeting will take place some time next week at Hot Springs, and a new turf organization will likely be formed at that meeting. It will be strong as well as popular, as each forward will be elected by its home jockey club, with no self-elected high-salaried stewards to absorb its revenues. We expect it to benefit breeders, owners and trainers alike, and each jockey club will have a voice in its own affairs.

SOUTH WON MAIN.

Northern Birds Beaten and Much Money Changed Hands.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 20.—The South won the cocking main of North vs. South, fought on the Kentucky side of the river near here, the first contest ending today. D. H. Pearce of Appleton, Wis., represented the North, and J. E. Burke of Springfield, Mo., represented the South. Thirteen fights took place, Burke winning nine and the main.

Men were present from almost every state in the union, and it is estimated that $75,000 changed hands on the result.

W. U. P. and South Side.

The W. U. P. will play the South Side team at Odd Fellows hall tonight. It is not likely Walter East will be used by South Side in this game as it does not wish to compel him to play against his collegians. Following will be the lineup:

AMONG THE PASSERS.

The Trenton five will play the Newman five tonight on Newman floor.

The Hillsdales will go to Carnegie tonight to play the Arcade A. C. of that place.

One of the best games of the Manchester game schedule will be played tonight at Leigh hall, corner of Locust and Market streets, Allegheny, the crack Railroad A. C. of the Manhattan A. C. being the contesting teams. The preliminary will be almost as interesting, as the contestants will be the champion Tom Thumbs and the Railroad Midgets.

PITTSBURGH IS DEFEATED BY BUTLER HIGH SCHOOL

Shadyside Academy Opens Its Basketball Season—Allegheny Beats W. U. P. Freshmen.

The Butler High school basketball team won an exciting contest from the Pittsburgh High school yesterday afternoon on the latter's floor, 26 to 21. The passers from up the country had the score 16 to 9 in their favor at the end of the first period, but in the second half the Pittsburghers suddenly took a decided reversal of form, and at one time were but one point behind.

While the playing was at its fastest Forsythe of Butler was checked into a radiator by Dunc. Worrell, the husky football captain. It was several minutes before Forsythe rounded to and was able to continue. Pittsburgh had chances to win or at least to tie, but failure to pocket foul goals partly caused its defeat. The team was off color in the shooting line.

Baker, the Butler forward, was strong at shooting, getting six from the field. Klingensmith and Verner, for Butler, did well. Neudorser showed the best for Pittsburgh. The line-up:

Butler—26.		Pittsburgh—21.
Forsythe	Forward	Henning
Baker	Forward	Lytle
McGeary	Center	Neudorser
Klingensmith	Guard	Munroe
Verner	Guard	Worrell

Goals from field—Lytle 2, Neudorser 4, Monroe 3, Baker 6, Forsythe 3, McGeary 2. Goals from foul—Lytle, Monroe, Baker 4. Time of halves—20 minutes. Referee—Williams. Umpire—Ralston. Scorer—Turner.

The inter-class basketball games for the championship of Shadyside academy opened yesterday afternoon, the Sixth Form winning from the Fifth Form 17 to 13. There are four teams in the league, the Third, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Forms.

The feature of yesterday's game was the playing of Kelly of the Fifth Form, who had four field goals. The line-up:

Sixth Form—17.		Fifth Form—13.
Ross	Forward	Kelly
Sheppard	Forward	Opernauer
J. McCutcheon	Center	F. McCutcheon
Hetzel	Guard	Lally
Goldsmith	Guard	Patterson

Field goals—Kelly 4, F. McCutcheon, Opernauer, Hetzel 4, Ross, Sheppard, J. McCutcheon. Foul goals—Sixth Form 3, Fifth Form 1. Referee—Shetter.

Alvin C. Kraenzlein, the former well-known all-around athlete of the University of Pennsylvania, has been engaged to coach the track team of the Haverford school during the coming season. He will be a regular master at the school and will reside there.

Byron S. Dickson will be the field coach of the University of Pennsylvania football team next fall. The football committee does not intend making any official announcement of its change in the coaching system, or the personnel of the coaching staff until all the men who will help develop the team have been selected.

The classes C 4 and C 6 hockey teams of the Pittsburgh High school have been organized. They will play next Tuesday at Friendship park. The teams line up as follows:

Men Growing Weaker

Strenuous Life Is Using Up Their Vital Forces and Energy Faster Than Nature Replaces Them.

As a result many are being stricken with paralysis, locomotor ataxia, and nervous prostration. To overdo anything is harmful, and a continuation of it will wear out the strongest man. Overwork, worry, brain-tire, high living, dissipation and other excesses and abuses waste away the most vital elements of the blood, brain and nerve forces, and disease sets in. At first there will be a general indisposition, poor appetite, indigestion, severe headache, wakefulness and weakness in the back and spine, the temper irritable, the spirits depressed, the memory poor and the mind weakened, ending in premature decline or decay. Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Food is composed of the same elements that have been wasted and worn out in the blood, brain and nerves. By making new blood it turns weakness into strength and forces new life and the vigor of youth into every portion of the body, restoring the patient to perfect manhood. SOCIETY

EXQUISITE decorations, beautiful gowning and a representative gathering of Pittsburgh and Allegheny men and women, characterized the bachelor ball held in the Pittsburgh club last evening as one of the most beautiful and brilliant events in the social history of the city. The hosts of the evening were the bachelors of the club, William B. Scaife, Eben M. Byers, A. M. McCrea, C. W. Hanford, Thomas A. McGinley, George S. Oliver, James R. Taylor, Thomas O'Conor Jones, Edward P. Mellon, Robert W. Flenniken, Dallas C. Byers, Arthur W. Bell, Hay Walker, J. Frederic Byers, Clinton L. Childs, H. Hughart Laughlin, Charles A. Foster, George W. Nicola, William Frew, W. S. Mitchell, W. S. Arbuthnot, A. B. Robinson, William J. Patton, H. W. DuPuy, Nathaniel Holmes, George Singer and J. Alston Moorhead. The patronesses, all of whom, with the exception of Mrs. McCrea, were present to receive the guests and later to distribute the favors, were Mrs. Harry P. Darlington, Mrs. Harmar D. Denny, Mrs. Charles C. Scaife, Mrs. Harvey Childs, Jr., Mrs. William Nimick Frew and Mrs. James McCrea. Mrs. Darlington was gowned in point applique and Irish lace, Mrs. Frew was in a white satin gown having trimmings of spangled lace and tulle, Mrs. Scaife wore orchid trimmed white satin and point lace, while Mrs. Denny also appeared in white satin and point lace.

The dancing was general until supper when two cotillion figures were led, the first by William J. Patton and Robert W. Flenniken and the second by Charles A. Foster and J. Frederic Byers. The favors were arranged on racks and tables in one corner of the room and among the dainty articles were fans, flowered wands, ruffs, hats, crepe paper boxes and picture frames for the women, and toy drums, horns, orders and canes tied with gay bows of ribbons for the men.

The floral work reached the acme of artistic skill and taste. Placed in the foyer and up the long stairway, were palms and smilax. An arbor had been formed, connecting the supper rooms and the foyer. In the former apartments the mantels were banked and the small tables were decorated in pink. The ball room was a maze of soft pink coloring, all the lights having been shaded in the predominant color, even to the great crystal chandelier in the center of the room and the smaller domes studding the ceiling. The stage was a dream of beauty. In the center, amid masses of greenery, hung a large pink dome lighted by electricity. A little to each side were tall wicker posts, topped with immense bowls of annunciation lilies and beside them were lower clusters of white lilacs. Cibodian and farleyense ferns were combined at their base and behind all were the musicians in their red coats. Smilax almost covered the walls and festooned from the chandeliers to the corners of the room were long ropes of the vine. Gracefully drooping lilies adorned the sidelights and also the white pillars, between which hung lighted pink domes.

Dinners Precede the Ball.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Painter gave a beautifully appointed dinner at the Duquesne club last evening preceding the bachelor ball in the Pittsburgh club. Covers were laid for 62, among the guests being Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ezekiel Stoddard, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Robinson, William C. Scaife, Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. Harmar D. Denny, Miss Madeline F. Laughlin, Mr. and Mrs. John Moorhead, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. Denniston Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ricketson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. James Wood Scully, Mrs. James Wood, Mr. and Mrs. William Bacon Schiller, Miss Elizabeth Howe, Mr. and Mrs. William Booth Trainer and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stewart.

Another dinner given last evening before the ball was that at which H. Hughart Laughlin was host at the Pittsburgh Golf club. Covers were laid for 32, the guests including the younger people who were later guests of the bachelors at the Pittsburgh club.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammond Entertain.

Of unusual beauty and attractiveness was the dance given last evening in the Pittsburgh Conservatory of Music by Mr. and Mrs. James Hammond. There was no special guest of honor, the host and hostess receiving alone. The floral work was exquisite, tall standards of white lilies, ropes of smilax and pink-lighted domes having been introduced into the decorative scheme. About 100 guests were present, and after the dancing, which was general, supper was served in the basement of the conservatory.

Nine Nations

Now Use Liquozone. Won't You Try It—Free?

Millions of people of nine different nations, are constant users of Liquozone. Some are using it to get well; some to keep well. Some to cure germ diseases; some as a tonic. No medicine was ever so widely employed. These users are everywhere; your neighbors and friends are among them. And half the people you meet—wherever you are—know someone whom Liquozone has cured.

If you need help, please ask some of these users what Liquozone does. Don't blindly take medicine for what medicine cannot do. Drugs never kill germs. For your own sake, ask about Liquozone, then let us buy you a full-size bottle to try.

We Paid $100,000

For the American right to Liquozone. We did this after testing the product for two years, through physicians and hospitals, after proving, in thousands of difficult cases, the Liquozone destroys the cause of any germ disease.

Liquozone has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. It is not made by compounding drugs, nor with alcohol. Its virtues are derived solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time. The result is a liquid that does what oxygen does. It is a nerve food and blood food—the most helpful thing in the world to you. Its effects are exhilarating, vitalizing, purifying. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetal matter.

There lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only way known to kill germs in the body without killing the tissue, too. Any drug that kills germs is a poison and it cannot be taken internally. Every physician knows that medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone attacks the germs, wherever they are. And when the germs which cause a disease are destroyed, the disease must end, and forever. That is inevitable.

of the city of Pittsburgh, Pa., for the year

STOCKS OPENED WEAK, BUT CLOSED HIGHER

Activity and Advance Were in Stocks at the Extremes of the Railroad List—Crucible Preferred Strong---Pittsburgh Coal Weak.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

There were several new points of interest in the New York stock market yesterday, and sharp gains were made by securities at both extremes of the railroad list, but there was no news to account for the movements. At the opening the general market was weak and lower. English consols declined and all the foreign markets were heavy on the attempt on the life of the czar and the reported disturbed conditions prevailing in the Russian empire. London was a seller of American securities to the extent of 30,000 shares. However, the weakness did not last long. On the "curb" Northern Securities moved up to a new high record, and this had a stimulating effect on other high-priced railroad stocks. Chicago & Northwestern was the leader, and after opening at 212 advanced to 219½ and closed at 218½ bid, a net gain of 7½ per cent. New York Central advanced from 142½ to 144¾, and closed at a net gain of 1¼ per cent. This movement revived rumors of a railroad deal which would embrace the two roads, but there was nothing definite in relation thereto. St. Paul advanced from 173¼ to 175⅝ and closed near the top. Union Pacific was strong, advancing to 110¾, and closed at the best, but Southern Pacific sold off in the late dealings and was one of the few railroad stocks to close at a net loss.

While this movement among the high-class investments was in progress a spurt occurred in Big Four, which advanced from 92½ to 96⅝, and this started gossip as to the probability of an increase in the dividend rate. The most sensational advance, however, was in Chicago Terminal. The common opened at 9 and advanced to 15¼, closing at a net advance of 6 points. The preferred opened at 19 and advanced to 25½, closing at a net gain of 6½ per cent. Both stocks were unusually active. The only explanation offered was that rival interests were buying for control. A number of more or less obscure stocks, like Detroit Southern, Kansas City Southern and Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic were active and higher without visible or known cause.

Industrial issues were moderately active and for a time quite irregular. Amalgamated Copper opened weak and sold off to 73½, the announcement of the retirement of young Rockefeller from all connection with the company apparently offsetting the declaration of the extra dividend, in the opinion of speculators. Later in the day the stock recovered to 75 and closed with a loss of ⅛ per cent. United States Steel common advanced to 30¾ in the early dealings, later sold off, but closed steady and unchanged at 30½. The preferred moved within the narrow range of 95½ to 94¾, closing at 94 bid. Sugar closed ¼ lower and Smelting ⅛ lower. As a whole, the tone of the general market was firmer, and while transactions were lighter, the close was steady and firm.

Estimates of the movements of currency during the week indicate another large gain in cash for the banks, despite the payment back into the treasury of a portion of government deposits held. The prospects are that gold exports will continue indefinitely, international banking houses having yesterday engaged all the gold bars that the New York assay office can furnish up to the close of February. Sterling exchange remained firm and is now at a level where gold coin may be exported at a profit.

The local stock market was active and irregular. A feature of the early dealings was the strong rally in Crucible Steel preferred, the stock advancing from 63⅜ to 65¾, and closing at practically the top. The common rallied to 12¾ and closed at 12½. In contrast was Pittsburgh Coal, which on light transactions declined to and closed at 21¾ for the common and at 80½ for the preferred. River Coal common rallied to 10 and the preferred closed higher at 28½ bid. American Sewer Pipe reacted sharply, declining to 30½ and closing at a net loss of 1½ per cent. The Westinghouse stocks were inactive but firm and closed fractionally higher. Marsden sold to the extent of 2,000 shares at 5½@5¾, and closed at 5⅝ bid. Manufacturers Light and Heat reacted to 39¾, while Pittsburgh Oil and Gas, after selling at 73, declined and closed at 72. The strongest member of the banking group was Commonwealth Trust, which advanced to 212, a net gain of 12 per cent over the last previous sale. Colonial Trust declined 7 per cent to 391, and Union Trust sold unchanged at $3,000 a share.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Complete and accurate returns compiled from the official statements of the all national banks of Pittsburgh show that at the close of business on the 11th inst., the total deposits foot up $149,007,303 an increase of $5,681,411 compared with the figures for November 10 last and an increase of more than $19,000,000 compared with the nearest corresponding date a year ago. The increase in loans since the November returns was only $874,858, the increase in investment securities was 248,778, and the increase in government bonds, including the amount held to secure circulation, was $2,720,000. The total loans, deposits and resources of the banks are the largest in the history of the city. The showing fully accounts for the current easy conditions in the local money market. The following balance sheet was compiled by R. J. Stoney, Jr., from the official statements, as at the close of business January 11:

Charles A. Painter, president of the Pittsburgh stock exchange, who returned from New York yesterday, stated that there is no abatement of confidence among the larger interests in Wall street of a much higher market for stocks. The sudden rise in Reading common was partly due to covering of shorts, but when fears began to be expressed of a "corner" in the stock, some of the large holders who still have every confidence in the future of the property sold for the purpose of preventing a corner or allaying fears on that score. To the opinion of some of the influential banking interests there will be a traders' market, with moderate fluctuations, until the 4th of March. After congress adjourns, a sustained upward movement in prices is looked for, provided general business conditions continue as favorable as at present.

The only gossip in the street bearing upon the weakness in Pittsburgh Coal related to the report from Cleveland that two firms connected with the lake coal trade will the coming season operate independently of the Pittsburgh Coal Company. An official of the latter denied the accuracy of the report, or its importance if it should prove to be true when the lake season opens.

The rally in Crucible Steel preferred was rather unexpected, and again demonstrated the scarcity of the stock on an advancing market.

Pittsburgh's guess on the United States Steel Corporation's earnings for the last quarter is that the figures will be nearer $20,000,000 than $21,000,000, and that the orders on the books of the company will approximate 5,000,000 tons, the largest with one exception on record.

Preston, Watt & Schoyer reported a private sale of $12,000 Union Steel 5s at 98. This is the first sale reported in several days.

There were active dealings on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday in Ohio Tonopah stock, several thousand shares changing hands at prices ranging from 35 cents to 45 cents a share. The stock is not listed and no official record was made of the sales.

New York Air Brake stock declined yesterday from 157 to 154½ and recovered to 156½. On the local exchange 10 shares Westinghouse Air Brake sold at 145¼, an advance of ¼.

The Union Storage Company has declared a dividend of $1 a share, payable January 30 to stock of record January 20.

The Westinghouse Brake Company, limited, London, has paid a dividend at the rate of 20 per cent per annum for the six months ended December 31, 1904, together with a bonus of 5 per cent.

Checks for the regular 2½ per cent semi-annual dividend on Pleasant Valley Railway were received by stockholders yesterday.

Mr. W. C. Baldwin, vice president of the Pittsburgh Life and Trust Company, will deliver an address upon life insurance at the next meeting of the Pittsburgh Chapter American Institute of Bank Clerks, Tuesday evening, January 24.

S. C. T. Dodd, who has resigned as general solicitor of the Standard Oil Company, probably drew the largest salary of any individual in the United States. Mr. Dodd has for years drawn an annual salary of $250,000. The only other salary drawn by a lawyer which can compare with this is that of Francis Lynde Stetson, who receives an annual retainer of $50,000 from J. P. Morgan & Co. This retainer is given simply for the purpose of allowing J. P. Morgan & Co. to have the first call upon the services of Mr. Stetson. When however he is consulted he receives an extra fee. Sir Clinton Dawkins, the head of the London branch of J. P. Morgan & Co. receives an annual salary of $250,000. In addition he receives a certain percentage of the profits of the firm, which during some years have amounted to a larger sum than the guaranteed salary. Outside of Mr. Dodd about the largest salary drawn by any individual in this country is $100,000. A large number of persons are known to draw this salary. The largest salary drawn by any railroad president is understood to be $75,000. Both A. J. Cassatt and James J. Hill are said to draw this salary.—New York Commercial.

United States government new 4s declined ½ per cent on call in New York yesterday.

Further engagements of gold for export to Europe have been made so that the output of the New York assay office in bars is here contracted for up to March 15. The engagements up to February 15 have previously been announced. From February 15 to March 1 Heidelbach, Ickleheimer & Co. have engaged the assay office's output of gold bars, while from March 1 to March 15 Lazard Freres will take all the assay office produces.

After a thorough and careful consideration of the subject, the controlling interests in Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company have finally rejected the proposition to sell six tickets for 25 cents.

The Pullman Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable February 15 to holders of record January 31.

International Steam Pump directors have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, payable February 1.

Speyer & Co. state the entire $40,000,000 United States of Mexico 4 per cent bonds have been sold. The syndicate members have not been called upon to make any payment whatever on account of their interest in the business.

Wall street has a story that the Canadian Pacific is about to make a closer connection with Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic and that it will not be long before the preferred stock is a dividend payer.

Speyer & Co. and Kean, Van Cortlandt & Co. have purchased from the Lackawanna Steel Company $10,000,000 five-year 5 per cent gold notes, secured by deposit of $12,500,000 first consolidated mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds. The $12,500,000 first consolidated mortgage bonds are part of an issue limited to $20,000,000 to be created, of which $13,000,000 will be reserved to take up the first mortgage bonds now outstanding.

The quarterly meeting of Pressed Steel Car directors will be held January 26. This is the regular time for dividend action and it is expected that the usual quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock will be declared. There is no likelihood that any action will be taken regarding a resumption of dividends on the common stock. The car business is showing considerable activity, but it will take some time for the car companies to entirely recover from the slack period through which they passed last year.

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Money was firm in the market today owing to various calls, including Irish land loan stock. Traders on the stock exchange were nervous and depressed. The chief influences were the Russian unrest and the further weakness of foreign bourses, especially the Paris bourse. The favorable bank statement failed to stimulate operations. Consols were easier owing to selling pressure, but closed above the lowest quotations of the day. Americans reflected the irregularity of Wall street, opening dull with mixed changes of below parity. Erie, Union Pacific and New York Central maintained their strength. A moderate amount of business was transacted. After some trivial price gains closed firmer. Foreigners fluctuated and became weaker on the political news, Paris alternately selling and buying. Imperial Japanese government 6s of 1904 were quoted at 96⅝. South American were easier. Kaffirs were neglected and declined to follow the upward with the other sections. Canada for money, 9/16 cheque for the account, 9/32; bar silver steady at 27¾d an ounce; money, 2 per cent; the rate of discount for short bills is 2¼ per cent; the rate of discount for three months' bills is 2⅛@2 9-16 per cent.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Business on the bourse today was affected by the events in Russia. The tone was heavy and at the close 22½c were weak. Russian Imperial 4s were quoted at 80.60 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 369. Three per cent rentes, 97 francs 92½ centimes for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 12½ centimes for checks.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—Prices on the bourse today were somewhat weaker. Russia bonds fell ⅛ to ¼ of a point. Exchange on London, 20 marks 43½ pfgs. for checks. Discount rates, short bills, 2 per cent; three months' bills, 2¼ per cent.

Banks and the Treasury.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Special.—In redemption of checks drawn by depositors of gold at the Seattle assay office, today's official records show that the sub-treasury paid out yesterday $14,460. Payments by banks to government, $1,586,000. Balance on the day's transactions, $651,000, paid by government to banks. Total net payment by government to banks since Friday, $2,608,000, against $2,584,000 similarly paid for the corresponding period a week ago and $4,647,000 also paid by government to banks a year ago.

EXTREMES OF MARKET WERE IN OPERATION

Prices Were Highly Irregular, but Considerable Action Marked the Session.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—The Herald this (Saturday) morning says:

The stock market of yesterday presented few features of interest, one of which, however, was the fact that what might be termed the extremes of the market were in motion. This was typified by 1⅞ points advance in Chicago & Northwestern among high-grade issues and a 6½ points gain in Chicago Terminal, common and preferred, at the other end of the line. The irrationality of the day's movements may be inferred from such operations.

Prices were highly irregular throughout the entire session. Although dealings were somewhat reduced, there was considerable action in the market of that character in which the wheels spin around rapidly, but in which the machine makes little progress. In fact, the result of some of this activity was retrogressive. Dealings were largely professional, and most commission houses complained there was little or no outside interest in the market.

The most important news of the day was the disquieting reports of the situation in Russia, which depressed the London and continental markets and contributed to the early heaviness on the local exchange. In fact, it was not until the foreign exchanges were closed that the New York market displayed much rallying power.

Traders regarded the dividend declaration on Amalgamated Copper stock, which was announced after the close of the preceding day's session, as disappointing, in consequence of the fact that the slight increase in the rate was declared as an "extra" disbursement.

Both the above features played some part in holding speculative enthusiasm in check. Forecasts for a favorable bank statement were made, and with them came the announcement that all the bar gold that can be turned out by the assay office up to March is under contract for export. Railway traffic returns continued favorable.

SALE OF $42,750 IN THE EAST END

Third Sale at Good Prices of Frankstown Avenue Property Within a Week.

BIG WAREHOUSES ASSURED

Through the Commonwealth Real Estate Company A. J. Hopkins has sold to W. L. Hardy 24 Frankstown avenue for $42,750. This is the third sale of Frankstown avenue property within a week, which is conclusive evidence that the future prospects of the newly-widened thoroughfare are rapidly becoming brighter. The lot sold has a frontage of 17.5 feet with a depth of 84 feet to Penn avenue, being the third property from the junction of those two streets. The building is a two-story brick used for store purposes. The sale figures at the rate of $2,440 a foot for the Frankstown avenue frontage.

A fine warehouse for Allegheny will be the outcome of a deal made yesterday by the Land Trust Company, which sold to Duncan & Porter, dealers in builders' supplies, the J. B. Jones property at the southeast corner of Morgan street and the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago railroad. The consideration was $40,000. The lot is irregular in shape, having a frontage of 96 feet in Morgan street, 158 feet on the railroad, an average depth of 107 feet and a narrow strip extending out to Grantham street, a distance of about 60 feet. The buildings are old frame structures of nominal value. The site is diagonally opposite the West Penn freight station and is one of the most advantageous lots in that part of Allegheny for warehouse purposes. The buyers are now doing business on the old Beggs marble works site at Sandusky street and the railroad, but will have plans prepared at once for a four or six-story warehouse to cost at least $60,000.

First Ward School House Resold.

The old First ward school house, which was sold a few weeks ago to Frederick W. Mueller, president of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, for $100,000, has been resold by him through the agency of of Samuel W. Black & Co. for $140,000. The present buyer is George E. McCague, who lately bought the Kaufmann lot at Seventh street and Penn avenue for $161,000. The school house property is at the west corner of Second avenue and Short street, having a frontage of 99.5 feet in the former and 104 feet in the latter street. It extends through to First avenue and has a switch of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company on the Short street side. The brokers have had preliminary plans prepared for an eight-story warehouse which Mr. McCague expects to build at once and have also secured a tenant for one-half of the property.

Rudrauf & Watson yesterday negotiated an exchange deal totaling $35,000. For James F. Powell they sold to Jacob Steinberg two lots on 105x300 feet on the north side of Island avenue, near Chartiers avenue, McKees Rocks, for $25,000. One building is a four-story brick facing on Island avenue, and the other, a three-story frame, is on the side of the lot. The total rental is $225 a month. In part payment for this property Mr. Powell received a farm of 180 acres four miles from Connellsville, Fayette county, which he put into the deal at $10,000. The farm is underlaid with a six-foot vein of coal which the buyer will mine at once. It is also improved with a modern 12-room brick house and good farm buildings.

Number of Deals Announced.

The Mortgage Banking Company yesterday put the finishing touches to business totaling $56,500. The largest deal was an exchange in which Otis B. Lane, the builder, transferred to the Lawton Real Estate Company the Ingram properties which he secured a short time ago in that district. These are four brick houses on lots 20x100 feet each in Cross street, valued at $14,000, six houses in Renfrew street valued at $17,500, one house in Joseph street valued at $1,800, and a similar dwelling in Chariton street, one house in Dewey avenue worth $3,500 and two houses in Hobson street valued at $6,600. The total of these properties was $57,900. In part payment Mr. Lane received 50 lots, 25x100 feet each, in Virginia avenue and Mary street, Thirty-ninth ward, valued at $22,500; five lots in Lorenz avenue and five in Mary street, valued at $6,000. These lots will be improved with good houses in the spring.

The company, with A. Leggate & Son, also sold for Antonio Panarello eight six-room brick houses on lots 20x100 feet in Junilla street, between Wylie and Center avenues, Thirteenth ward, for $32,000. Mr. Panarello received from the Lawton Real Estate Company in part exchange 200 feet of frontage in the Thirty-ninth ward, which he will improve with 10 houses to cost $3,000 each. They also sold for Carrie M. Parker to Nancy E. Fast a nine-room frame house on 40x100 feet in Ellsworth boulevard, Ellsworth, for $4,500, taking in part payment five lots, 40x100 feet, each in Ellsworth, valued at $2,500; for the Lawton Real Estate Company to a local buyer an improved lot, 25x100 feet, in Euclid avenue, Allegheny, for $4,200; for John E. Maloy three lots in West Liberty for $1,050; for the Lawton Real Estate Company to John Connell an improved lot, 25x100 feet, in Love avenue for $2,550.

Increasing His Holdings.

C. C. Hamilton has bought for Joseph W. Craig, the oil operator, the Catherine O'Connor property at the south corner of Pike and Nineteenth streets for $26,000. The lot is 60x52 feet and is improved with old brick and frame buildings. It is opposite the Iron City Boiler works and near the other properties which Mr. Craig has lately bought for investment.

The Commonwealth Real Estate Company has leased for the Buch estate to Frank A. Totten the three-story brick building at 127 Fourth avenue for three years. Mr. Totten, who is a dealer in furnaces, is now located in Wood street. The building he secures was formerly used by the International Harvester Company.

Through the office of George C. Norris & Co., I. Goldstein and K. Klebansky have leased to Leon Krieger, dealer in shoes, the three-story brick building at 1223 Fifth avenue for two years at $1,500 a year.

James H. Hammett has sold to Samuel Jarvis a residence property, 36x124 feet, on the east side of Atlantic avenue, near Harriett street, Twentieth ward, for $14,000.

The Colonial Trust Company has bought from the James Bailey estate 172x698 feet in Washington avenue, Thirty-second ward, for $11,9000. The purchase is made subject to the rights of the Pittsburgh & Castle Shannon railroad, which runs alongside the property.

George C. Kaufmann has bought from Amanda Juergens 140x185 feet at the northwest corner of Liberty avenue and Becker's way, for $12,000.

"BLUE FRIDAY" WAS CLAIM OF DEALERS

Dull Times Experienced Yesterday in Every Line in the Local Markets.

Business was slow in all lines in the local markets yesterday, and the dealers called it "Blue Friday." In the grocery, produce, hay and grain and all other lines there was not enough to do to furnish exercise.

The sugar situation shows as strong as it did all week, and the jobbers were somewhat surprised that announcement of a further advance had not come from the east. In flour there was an uncertain feeling. Local dealers are still 10 points below the advance of the western millers, but the break in the wheat market has rendered flour weak, and there is no immediate prospect of another advance. Coffee continues as strong as ever, and dealers confidently believe it is booked for another half-cent advance early next week.

In produce there was little doing and no changes in any line. Oranges were selling well yesterday, but the supply was ample for the demand. Pineapples are proving a slow sale, as the public is taking more to green goods than to fruit. Lettuce is active, and green onions are a ready sale at good prices. The list of southern green goods is all making a good showing in the sales, as the public stomach seems to be clamoring for a change from the usual heavy winter diet.

In potatoes, parsnips and other root goods there is a steady and satisfactory business. Prices did not get so high as was expected earlier in the season, but they are very satisfactory, and there is money in the goods at the present rates. Apples have advanced until they are almost a luxury, but there is a great demand for them, and the stocks in storage are moving out rapidly.

HAY AND GRAIN RECEIPTS.

Receipts of hay and grain yesterday were as follows: Pennsylvania Railroad—20 cars hay, 19 cars oats, 5 cars feed, 2 car meal, 17 cars corn, 2 cars straw, 2 cars corn and oats. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie—2 cars hay, 1 car oats, 2 cars rye. Baltimore & Ohio—6 cars hay, 2 cars corn, 3 cars oats, 1 car feed.

Business in the hay and grain market was extremely dull yesterday, and the depression which existed in all lines was felt there severely. The rye market was the strongest feature and there is every indication that prices of that grain will advance. The offer is nominally as heavy as ever, while the supply is getting lighter. In hay the same situation prevails which has characterized that commodity for weeks. While comparatively little business was effected, prices did not vary. Oats and feed continue as before and corn is still in great demand. The shelled corn coming in does not appear to be of the top grade, and the price of that grain is correspondingly firm.

MORE MANUFACTURING THAN DISTRIBUTION

Unseasonable Weather and Collapse of Cotton Prices Has Disturbed Business Atmosphere.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

Progress is more rapid in manufactures than in distribution, but this is largely due to the effect of unseasonable weather at some points and the unsettled feeling in the south, where the collapse of cotton prices has retarded collections and caused many cancellations. That production is maintained by mills and furnaces may be taken as evidence of confidence in the future.

Iron and steel plants lead in activity, with woolens the feature in textile fabrics. Readjustment of the protracted labor struggle at Fall River is encouraging, but the industrial atmosphere has darkened elsewhere, although on the whole there is less than the customary distress for this season. Prices of newly-opened lines of woolens are higher, as was to be expected in view of the position of the raw material, but competition is not curtailed, and buyers are slow to operate. Interior trade reports improvement, buyers in the Boston market placing few contracts.

Railway earnings for January thus far show a gain of 2.5 per cent. Foreign commerce at this port is also better than a year ago, the last week showing gains of 10 per cent. of imports and $122,306 in exports. Barring any alteration in quantities of iron and steel is the best possible guarantee of continued activity. Conservatism now controls this situation, holding prices at a position that is attractive, considering the volume of business and cost of production.

Coke ovens are establishing new records of fine output and traffic conditions cause little delay. Very extensive contracts for manufacturers are pending, and a considerable quantity of pipes and tubes is wanted, while the Pittsburgh mills are heaped on deliveries on billets and bars. The plate mills are not only fully engaged, but have orders running well into the future. Structural steel and rails are quiet, although large contracts are pending.

Hides are still firm as a result except that meat is receiving supplies of cattle freely, as these constitute the bulk of current receipts. This is a seasonable influence, and does not detract from the general tone of strength.

Failures this week number 201 in the United States, against 205 last year, and 24 in Canada, against 20 a year ago.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending January 12 are 1,128,974 bushels, against 700,600 bushels last week, 3,538,192 bushels this week last year, 1,339,215 in 1903, and 2,620,979 bushels in 1902. From July 1 to date the exports are 38,660,746 bushels, against 26,820,154 last year, 142,272,527 bushels in 1902, and 157,118,726 bushels in 1901. Corn exports for the week are 2,746,929 bushels, against 2,032,014 last year, 2,216,365 bushels in 1903, and 1,229,226 bushels in 1902. From July 1 to date the exports of corn are 24,895

VIRGINIA'S CLAIM IS VOTED DOWN

West Virginia Legislature Passes Resolution Saying State Owes No War Debt.

INTERSTATE LAW AMENDMENT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Jan. 20.—The claim advanced by Virginia that West Virginia still pay a portion of its antebellum debt, came up in the senate today, and the claim was turned down by the adoption of a resolution that West Virginia did not owe any part of the Virginia debt, although Mr. Campbell (Dem. of Jefferson), wanted a commission appointed to investigate if West Virginia owed any of this debt, and thus finally settle the matter, but his substitute secured scant consideration. Senator Browning introduced a resolution providing pay of $10 a day for legislators, instead of $4 as at present, with 10 cents mileage, to and fro, and no more perquisites, such as stationery, fountain pens, etc. A joint resolution was introduced in the senate, as follows:

"Whereas, The laws prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors in certain states and counties are rendered practically ineffective on account of the facility with which such liquors can be shipped into such states and counties from parts without the same; therefore, be it

"Resolved, By the senate and house of delegates of West Virginia, concurring, That the United States senators and members of the house of representatives from this state, are hereby instructed to introduce in the congress of the United States and urge the passage of an act so amending the present laws relating to interstate commerce, as to prevent railroad companies, express companies and all other common carriers, from delivering intoxicating liquors in any state, county, magisterial district or municipal corporation, where the sale of such liquor is prohibited by law."

Female Footpads at Work.

Female footpads are the latest acquisition Pittsburgh can boast of in the criminal line. Jacob Owens of Irwin was held up in Third avenue, near Dickson street, Homestead, Thursday night, and robbed of a watch and chain. Nellie Semmons, colored, was arrested later and identified by Owens. She weighs about 225 pounds, while Owens is a featherweight, about 110. The other woman has not been arrested.

We Told You So.

So many people who went to May's, 500-8 Market street, two Saturdays ago for a box of candy, 60c quality selling at 25c, came back last Saturday for more. So now we are justified in saying, "We told you so."
